The Wellsboro Gazette

XXXIII. WELLSBORO, TIOGA COUNTY, PA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1907. NO. 52.

GOES OVER BANK

...th" in Real Life Ends ...ear Pine City Early Sunday Morning.

...MAN KILLED

Fell Fifteen Feet ...mpletely Over, Pin... ...pants Underneath.

...owner of the ill-fated ... Mr. Sears and Mr. Henry, ... few slight bruises. ... is well-known in ... his ... the past few months and was ... town last Thursday ... reported ... the ... machine which ... was hardly recognizable. ... axle was badly sprung by ... hitting against the log, and many ... the wooden parts were reduced ... splinters. The rear of the ... separated, there being ... the back as ... struck by a huge cleaver. ... had been torn ... which were uninjured by the ... only parts of the ... Mr. Sears, who was killed, was ... and was employed at ... store at Tioga. ... 35 years of age and was only recently married.

John Henry, who occupied the ... daigua. The chauffeur, Mr. VanGorder, ... is employed at a garage in Corning.

This is the ... residents of Tioga county ... and the second citizen ... borough of Tioga to have been ... this manner.

Elmira state that Mr. Henry ... his injuries. He had ... ments of consciousness, but at ... been fully conscious.

Telephone Night Rates Abolished.

With the prices on nearly every-... advancing comes the announcement that night rates on the long distance telephone throughout Tioga county have been abolished, the order taking effect last Sunday. This means that a message will cost just as much as one in the daytime, while heretofore the night rate has been about one-half the day rate. The new order, it is understood, applies wherever the company's lines extend.

As showing what the new order means, the night rate from Wellsboro to ... is now 25; the night rate to Elmira is now 30 cents instead of 25 and the night rate to Williamsport is 40 cents instead of 25 cents.

According to the official announcement in another column the reason assigned by the management is that the lower rate for night service resulted in a serious ... gestion" is not noticeable at the offices of the company in this section it is to be ... the new order is for ... of increasing ... night messages.

Grover-Kizer Reunion.

TIOGA, Sept. 4.—The thirteenth an... was held at the home of Wil... day. One hundred and ... members of the families were ... a very enjoyable time was ...

After prayer Rev. J. D. ... delivered the address of welcome ... was followed by Sarah Phoenix who ... an address to the "Old Homestead." There were ... Mate Short and Anna Chamberlain and an abundance of good vocal and ... music.

The invitation to hold the next re... the home of Mr. Kizer was the ... of his grandfather, Jarvis Grover. It is earnestly hoped that the next re... will be as successful and pleas... the one held last week.

NELLA RUSSELL, Secretary.

Advertise Your Wants in the Gazette.

A few weeks ago a Wellsboro lady who was in need of a servant placed ... contemporaries that boasts of a circulation bordering on the million ... more or less. The ad. was run two weeks without receiving a single application. The lady placed a notice ... day, Aug. 19th, and the following Monday there was an applicant for the position who was accepted. The lady advertiser informs the GAZETTE that her "new girl" is ... ...—T. J. ...

...AT WESTFIELD.

...Three Reading Teams Will Race ... the Crystal City Hose of Corning.

...Howard H. Button has ... running team will give ... Crystal City Hose team of Corning ... for their money on the ... of the Westfield Fair Association ... Friday, Sept. 13th. ... of the Fair ... offered a liberal purse for a ra... ... has been considerable talk lately ... to the relative capabilities of the ... Hose running team ... and the Crystal City team of Corning. The Bachelors have swept all before them at the tournaments convened for years ... have only ... extremely speedy. Lately ... complishing fast time and ... by many of the sporting ... of Corning ... the Bachelors to be hailed ... ing bunch wrest it from ... will have to content ... second place."

The contesting teams will each pull a hose cart of prescribed weight a distance of 200 yards. The ... tween seven ... the pistol cracks, the volunteer ... of New York and ... will hardly draw a breath until the race is finished.

Strenuous endeavors ... been made to get the teams together ... in failure until Mr. Smith took the ... attraction to the ...

LITTLE MARSH MATTERS.

...—Crops ...

LITTLE MARSH, Sept. 4. ... opened Monday morning with Mr. ... and Miss Ethel Carpenter ... teachers here; Miss Ida Ransom ... school; Miss Clara ... bee at Chatham Valley; ... and Miss Jessie Monks at the Faulkner school.

Ben Reynolds has commenced repairing his house and barn which ... damaged by the fire ... Mrs. Dunno's house ...

Messrs. Fred Beach and D. E. Cooper, clerks in the Auditor General's office at Harrisburg, spent Sunday in this place. Mrs. Cooper and her little son expect to return to ... with Mr. Cooper.

... to teach school.

Mrs. George Love spent last ... sister in Addison.

Miss May Carpenter, of Ulysses, ... visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Longstreet, wife of ... tendent Longstreet, of Mansfield, ... been visiting at the home of ... brother, George Ransom, the ...

Corn will only be about half a ... this year on account of the ... drought. The recent showers ... the pastures some. Many ... the farmers ... cows hay twice a day.

Potatoes will also be a light ... on account of the drought.

...

... A. Thompson ... visiting her aunt, Mrs. Julia ... man.

Mr. Davis and daughter, of Brad... Verne and Myrtle Phoenix, of ... burg, were guests of Mrs. S. Good... over Sunday.

Mrs. ... Mitchell is ... company from Hughesville.

M. G. ... is on the sick list.

A. L. White, ... Hollis, and Mrs. T. M. Archer, Mr. ... V. W. Lewis and other from ... attended the funeral of the late Dr. R. B. Smith, of Tioga, ... week.

George Baker, of Painter Run, visited his daughter, Mrs. Dayton ... kiss, last week.

Miss Anna Peck, of Langhord, Pa., is visiting her grandparents, Mr. ... Mrs. C. A. Goodwin.

Mrs. Jane West, of Wellsboro ... Whitney.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bolton, of Corning, were guests of Thomas Bolton over Sunday.

An ice cream social was held at the hall last Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Sunday-school. Pro... ...

Big Price for Hotel.

The Blossburg Advertiser in ... of Phillipsburg, recently sold his hotel to J. C. ... Shaffer also has 900,000 worth of ... estate and coal lands ...

Mr. ... is a ... of Pro... ... F. M. ...

THE RED MEN IN COUNCIL

Basket Picnic at Woodland Park on Tuesday Was Spoiled by the Rain.

INDIANS PARADE

"Big Chiefs" Hold a Pow Wow at the Auditorium in Presence of Pale Faces.

...Owing to the heavy rain on Tuesday morning ... basket picnic of the Red Men of Tioga county scheduled to be held in Woodland ... to the disappointment of a ... crowd of members of the order and their families. The effects of the great parade were also marred by ... on the sidewalk instead of on ... of the parade were not ... as good advantage as arranged. foot races by the "Big Chiefs" ... braves were also called off, as ... other features which had been arranged for the entertainment ... for the ...

All members of the several tribes assembled at the wigwam of the local tribe at 2 o'clock p. m., and ... Wellsborough Military Band ... to the Auditorium ... where the exercises of the day were held.

Prophet Lyman D. Goodspeed ... as chief of the meeting ... after selections by the band, he ... in a few well chosen words, ... H. Davis, Deputy Great ... of Wellsboro, who made the address of welcome.

... greeting, made all present feel ... home and particularly the ... Red Men whom he especially welcomed.

Then followed a vocal solo by Harry ... which was ... voice and highly deserves the ... applause which always greets ... appearance in public.

The chairman then introduced Dr. ... of Williamsport, who made a ... but very interesting and instructive talk, largely historical in character, relating to the growth of the order ... he mentioned the fact that there were at present within the ... in good standing in the various tribes of Red Men.

... was followed by ... the Wigwam, ... of Harrisburg. Mr. ... urged upon the ... the necessity of "pulling together" for the good of the order, ... bearing in mind the three ex... Libery and Charity."

Sheriff E. B. Dorsett ... introduced and described in a very interesting and pleasing ... an Indian reservation in the Northwest. His address was particularly appropriate at this time.

At the conclusion of the ... solo ... "Old Man." He was given hearty ... failed to respond to an ...

Mr. Ellinger, Keeper of Records of a Harrisburg tribe, was called upon and told a story which was well received by the audience.

The last speaker was Hon. ... Donnelly, of Harrisburg, Great Incohonee of the United States. His address, which was very ... faces in the audience ... order, especially so in relation ... good fellowship that always exists in a tribe of Red Men.

... tribe appeared in a drill ... well executed, many ... man overs and evolutions ... formed with remarkable ... of applause. C. A. ... is a ... meeting was held in Adota Wigwam in the interest of the proposed Central Pennsylvania Home for Red Men. A permanent organization was perfected ... as the Red Men's Home Association, the following officers be... President, H. L. Whittaker, of Williamsport; Vice President, Richard Chellew, of Harrisburg; Secretary, Charles J. Hill, of Williamsport; Treasurer, M. F. McCarthy, of Condersport.

... committee on Laws: D. H. Ell... of Harrisburg; W. A. Beaton, of Williamsport; B. Jamin Sawyer, of Renovo; H. L. K... of ... N. A. O... of ...

Mansfield was selected as ... for holding the next annual picnic ... the following officers were elected to make arrangements for the same: President, W. S. Root, of ... Money, of Tioga; Secretary, E. R. ... of Mansfield; Assistant Secretary, W. H. ... of Wellsboro; Treasurer, W. ... of Wellsboro.

In the evening session of the Great Council ... of ... Jackson ... of the Past Sachem degree on ...

AMENDMENT TO PENSION BILL

Praying That Aunt to Widows ...

(From the Potter Democrat.)

Last week J. C. ... of ... had at the ... (whom the ... present to Congress ... civil war shall receive ... be increased ... and that widows of soldiers and ... ors be not required to furnish testimony of the time of death of husbands and also extends the ... to be eligible to a pension. Under the opposed amendment, any woman who shall have married a soldier before 1900 shall have a just claim for a pension.

... amendment asked ... just and equitable one, and it would seem there should be no hesitancy on the ... favorably upon it.

At a recent gathering ... Wellsboro and at the reunion here Mr. Harrington received the signatures ... counties, and this ... was forwarded to Congressman Wilson it contained the names of ... men, ... men, who ... and suffered, and ... services ... never be fully paid for.

Congressman Wilson, that man of ... admirer of bravery, that ... motto is a square deal to every one, has stated that he will do anything in his power to have the ... posed amendment passed, which means that it will have ... who can be relied upon to stand ... every adversity.

Hon. William B. Wilson is the soldiers' friend—he is the friend of every ... worthy of his friendship.

Cowanesque Comments.

COWANESQUE, Sept. 4.—Mrs. Eugene Sherman and her daughter, Lillian, have gone to Fremont, ... where Mrs. Sherman will ... her brother and other ... They expect to be gone six ...

Will Brown, of Hanesdale, ... Thomas Brook, and family.

Two cases of typhoid fever developed a few days ago. One of the victims, John Summers, who has been ... was taken to the Arnot-Ogden Hospital in Elmira for treatment. Harry Rogers, who is also sick with the disease, is being cared for ...

... Hurd, of Troupsburg, ... is the new saleslady at the general store of R. A. Bates.

A large number from this place ... the Odd Fellows' picnic at Wellsboro last Thursday. All ... highly enjoyable time.

Mrs. Martin Rieppel and two ... are spending a few weeks with relatives and friends at Towanda.

...

DERBY, Sept. 4.—The schools of this township and Shippen opened on Monday morning. The ... was much larger than it was at the opening of the same schools last year. ... completed. Farmers report an average yield of grain, notwithstanding the prolonged drouth.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bowen ... delphia and various places in ...

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. ... to visit their fine fruit farm in Delaware some time during the ... month.

B. F. Spencer, of this place, had a violent attack of sickness last Sunday afternoon. Assistance was ... by phone. At first it ... thought to be an attack of typhoid fever, but later it proved to be ... work and exhaustion. The ... recommends rest and a change of ...

—The ... Gazette both one year for $1.50. Sample copy of the ... World will be ...

...VILLE REUNION.

Large Attendance of Descendants and Gives Interesting Program.

MIDDLEBURY CENTER, Sept. 4. ... family held their ... at the home of Fred H. Niles in Charleston last Thursday, there being 80 relatives and several ... At 12:30 the table ... the maple grove ... and after the usual ... Fred. Niles called the ... to order ... Roll is Called Up Yonder, I'll ..." followed by prayer by Mr. Brace.

The minutes of the last ... were then read and approved and the following literary program rendered:

Recitation—"The ... Dickson," by Kate Roe.

Reading—Mrs. Elice Brace.

Recitation—"The Women of Mumbles Head," Mildred West.

Recitation—"When yer Ma ... Got Tied," Bessie Roe.

Song—"Arrah Wanna," ... on the Barroom Floor," ... Niles.

Recitation—"Sal," ... Weld.

Recitation—"Too Great a Shock," ... Niles.

Song—"What a Gathering This Will Be."

Short talks were given on ... Brace, Rev. Charles ... G. W. Dickinson.

Two deaths since our last ... were reported—Mrs. Alveretta ... and Wilton B. Roe.

The report from the Historical Committee showed ... last year's and if the other members of the committee would give what information they could they would confer a great favor on the chairman. N. T. French was retained as chairman of ... Mrs. Henry Wedge, Aaron R. Niles, ... Brace, S. I. Hayes, Charles T. Niles were named ... helpers.

The next reunion will be held ... of Geo. W. ... Keeneyville, on the last Thursday in August, 1908.

The following officers were re-elected for the ... Fred A. Niles; Vice President, ... Niles; Secretary, Lillian Roe; Treasurer, N. T. French.

President Niles named the following committees: arrangements: Geo. Dickinson, Geary Niles, N. T. French ...

A vote of thanks was given ... and hostess for their kind hospitality and at a late hour good-byes were said, each expressing the wish ... all might ...

LILLIAN ROE, Sec'y.

PROPER EDUCATION FOR BOYS.

Many of the Frills Should Be Eliminated From the Studies in Public Schools.

... held by the teachers of ... last week Dr. Hanus spoke in ... of a broader education for the ... Dr. Hanus believes that the boys should be given an opportunity to secure an education which will be of benefit to them in ... later life. He said ... frequently ... ing in the public schools, and in this he is indorsed by a large ... the foremost educators of the land.

The GAZETTE heartily agrees with ... News when it declares that "There is no doubt that there is much time wasted in the public schools in trying to teach boys dead languages and ... they leave ... on educational matters have deplored the fact that there are too many frills connected with the modern day school curriculum."

Dr. Hanus says that "the classic languages are no longer considered essential to general culture," and ... would also eliminate much of what is now contained in the arithmetic and grammar books in order ... that the boy may get a ... better conception ... him in his life work.

... that the boys of to-day are "taught lessons which are of no more use to them than the fifth wheel to a wagon."

Candidates Must Cut Out Treating.

Judge Walling, of Erie county, has rendered a decision to the effect ... Michael Liebe, Jr., ... city, elected last February to fill an unexpired term, has been holding the ... to file a full account of his primary ... expenses as required by ...

Judge Walling declares that to ... voters with liquor and cigars is beyond the pale of the law and when the expenditures for such purposes ... be ... by the Supreme Court candidates will hereafter have to be ... in their expenditures ...

—Notwithstanding the long continued drought the tobacco crop ... looks to be ...

BIG DAY FOR ODD FELLOWS

Annual Picnic Attracted a Large Crowd at Woodland Park Last Thursday.

...ESIDENT'S ADDRESS

By Grand Master Hart of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania on Principles of Order.

Last Thursday will go on record as a red letter day in the history of the annual picnics of the Odd Fellows of ... the annual gathering ... in Woodland Park in this county ... was bright, clear and ideal in every respect for an occasion of ... and it was greatly enjoyed from start to finish by the ...

... filled, which started from ... Park avenue station, only a short distance from Woodland Park. Carriages loaded with people from neighboring places began arriving at an early hour and together with the ... Park ... were ... and ... ...

... Band ... Day When Dreams Come True," with band accompaniment, completely captivated the audience and Mr. Padgett responded to a vigorous encore.

The exercises at the pavilion were opened soon after 2 o'clock. Following prayer by Rev. W. H. Reese, D. D., Senator Geo. W. Williams, who presided as chairman, introduced District Deputy William Q. Benjamin, of Tioga Lodge, who made the address of welcome.

During the course of his remarks ... Benjamin stated among other things that the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, which was organized 88 years ago, was to-day disbursing more money for relief, burial and other ... aid and protection to its members and their families than any other order in the world. In behalf of Tioga Lodge and the citizens of ... a hearty welcome to the visiting brethren and their families. All were invited to ... Fellows and Masonic ... and in behalf of Brother ... a special invitation was extended to all the ... county ... could be procured for 50 cents ... with the necessary jewelry in the shape of "bracelets" supplied to all who desired them.

... B. H. Hart, of Harrisburg, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, was then introduced by Senator Williams. Mr. Hart is a ... and during his address he commanded the strict attention of every one in the large assemblage.

Mr. Hart preceded his discourse pertaining to the order with several good stories which he related in a highly entertaining manner. In his opening remarks on the principles and objects of ... speaker declared that "Our principles are free as the air and our practices as broad as eternity." One hundred and forty thousand Odd Fellows are in ... made up mostly of the ... gain in ... last six months amounts to 4,000. The one great reason why the organization holds its membership and grows as it does is because of the care it extends to the children of the deceased members and the aged.

In an eloquent and able plea of the ... from the ... the speaker ... moned and left a widow with six children under 12 years with no means provided for their care or sustenance. Like angels of mercy the delegation from the lodge appears as they come, not to offer words of sympathy only, but to give a guarantee that the wife and ... of the deceased brother ... be cared for. The asylums and schools provided by the Odd Fellows afford shelter to-day to many ... would find it hard to continue an existence, to say nothing of the ... that ... the young as they grow up to ...

(Continued on fifth page.)

A Passing from Poverty

By MRS. PRESTON HOWARD

One bitter day in February Josie Evans climbed the steps of a [illegible] stone mansion and pulled the bell [illegible] such weak, cramped fingers it was [illegible] she [illegible] to stand there [illegible] wind, that seemed cruelly [illegible] for her young heart as it [illegible] through the thin, sadly-worn [illegible] tights.

For Josie, never rich, was now most [illegible] when she [illegible] the large store, where she was selling holiday cards, no work had come. Her little pile of money had sunk so low she had had nothing but bread to eat for two days; and last night [illegible] and her roommate sat [illegible] hoods and told her of [illegible] of work. It seemed almost [illegible] if an angel had [illegible]

But now with [illegible] waiting her [illegible]

"Oh," [illegible] will not let me work [illegible] dress? What shall I do! What [illegible]

[illegible] trim-colored man [illegible] pass from the gloom [illegible] beyond [illegible] rich [illegible]

At the servant took the note to [illegible] beauty of the room [illegible] granee of flowers.

A soft rustle of silken garments, and a little brunette lady stood near who began to speak briskly, then broke off abruptly with a little cry; and how it happened neither could tell, but in a moment they were folded in each other's arms sobbing on each other's shoulders.

The little brunette recovered voice and composure first.

"To think I have found you at last," she cried. "You wicked, wicked Josie, to disappear away from me like that! Come right up into my room and have some cake and fruit to celebrate. [illegible] when [illegible] happened in school we [illegible] and I [illegible] to eat—against the [illegible] that dear old seminary!"

[illegible] the room [illegible] her [illegible] and the [illegible] of her dresses.

The brunette [illegible] gay laugh and a sweeping courtesy.

"I am the lady of the house, Mrs. Santon, at your service; never mind the old dress; we'll work on it together. Come along!"

[illegible] Josie [illegible] the regular [illegible] feast brought in by the man [illegible]

"Now," said the little lady, [illegible] they had begun to eat together, "I remember you [illegible] in some [illegible] away up in the New England hills, till you'd saved [illegible] some money you'd [illegible] and [illegible] with a little more [illegible] your father [illegible] left you and took it all and came to the boarding [illegible] was, to give yourself a [illegible]

"I know all that because you told me [illegible] to lie awake after hours to talk—quite against the rules!

"Then, just [illegible] I'd been off to the next town with one of the teachers to buy things, and when I came back to the school there [illegible] you, only a telegram. That [illegible]

"And now, you poor, dear [illegible]

She Opened It and Two Crisp Vs Fell Out.

[illegible] the regular [illegible] feast brought in by the man [illegible]

"Now," said the little lady, [illegible] they had begun to eat together, "I remember you [illegible] in some [illegible] away up in the New England hills, till you'd saved [illegible] some money you'd [illegible] and put it with a little more [illegible] your father [illegible] left you and took it all and came to the boarding [illegible] was, to give yourself a [illegible]

"I know all that because you told me [illegible] to lie awake after hours to talk—quite against the rules!

"Then, just [illegible] I'd been off to the next town with one of the teachers to buy things, and when I came back to the school there [illegible] you, only a telegram. That [illegible]

"And now, you poor, dear [illegible]

[illegible] tween life and death for six weeks, [illegible] passed away. How her [illegible] and tried to send word to her friend, [illegible] sent the letter to the [illegible] asking them to forward.

"And it was forward, forward for [illegible] so [illegible] took [illegible] to Europe. There was a party [illegible] up, and I started [illegible] on a three days' [illegible] And that unfortunate [illegible] of yours, my dear," she [illegible] hands [illegible] her [illegible] or [illegible] which it is! and I read it at [illegible] a fearful correspondent, I know, [illegible] I sat down that minute and wrote to [illegible]

"Ah," said Josie, "but I wasn't [illegible] then."

[illegible] neral expenses were paid for [illegible] bills, there was almost nothing [illegible] everyone [illegible] York."

"Oh, dear, [illegible] exclaimed Mrs. Santon [illegible]

[illegible] night about nine o'clock Josie [illegible] accompanied by a [illegible] Carrie [illegible] said.

And [illegible] Josie, in her own room, [illegible] the lid, [illegible] a note lying on top. She opened [illegible]

[illegible] so little [illegible] I have [illegible] will be very [illegible] in this [illegible] world! [illegible] so terribly [illegible] you more. I suppose [illegible] work in the [illegible] to [illegible] and [illegible] will be charity if you can take them [illegible]

[illegible] the tears, so bravely kept back by Josie these last hard weeks, came with a rush at this touch of a kindly hand.

[illegible] when Josie was sitting in her little room, cold, [illegible] no longer, [illegible] dashed in with her [illegible] wrapped in rich velvets and [illegible] dropped panting into a chair, [illegible] ing half breathlessly:

"You must just fling on your things and tumble the work [illegible] come in the carriage horse [illegible] and finish it! [illegible] business trip for six weeks [illegible] stay alone. I'd die! So you must take pity on me and come along." And with this she whisked away.

The next evening as Josie was arranging her [illegible] before the mirror in Carrie's [illegible] room," the mistress of the mansion [illegible] hands full of white lace and flowers, [illegible] tightened up with [illegible] excitement.

"Now you must wear this lace [illegible] Avenue! And you must put this big bunch of roses so. I want you to look your very prettiest to-night, because [illegible] cousin, Elmer Hay, is to dine here to-night. He's in an importing house, junior partner; and Frank says he's a royal good fellow if there was [illegible] prettiest."

And [illegible] Josie Evans, entering the [illegible] advancing toward her and [illegible] seemed to think.

That pleasant evening was the precursor of many; of moonlight sleigh rides, of treats to theater and opera, [illegible] which Elmer Hay was their constant companion.

And so the six weeks sped all too [illegible] Then one morning El[illegible] from the deck of an outward-bound Co[illegible]

[illegible] Josie [illegible] work, with which Carrie kept her [illegible] plied, the easier life, the [illegible] Sundays passed at Carrie's elegant home and the new friends she met there, failed to bring back.

But three months later, when Carrie had coaxed her to spend another six [illegible] Elmer Hay bent and whispered [illegible] in the [illegible] flood life with a [illegible] of which shone [illegible]

ALL WRONG ELKS

FRED K. TENER, ONCE A FAMOUS BASEBALL STAR.

Toured the World with an All-American Team Years Ago—Is Now a Successful Banker at Charleroi, Pa.

[illegible] K. Tener, one time [illegible] Pa., and newly elected [illegible] of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, was once a [illegible] figure in the world of [illegible]

John K. Tener owes his fame [illegible] fortune to a [illegible] on the dusty diamond [illegible] was one of the first [illegible] a strong man [illegible] a little horsehide sphere. To them it was like the legedermain of conjurers of India. They saw him twirl [illegible] in apparent defiance [illegible] introduction to the [illegible] miliar in America that it has ceased to excite comment.

Capt. Anson stoutly repulsed the idea that Tener's curves would fail [illegible]

"John could do [illegible] that any of your diamond [illegible] to-day can do," he said, "and [illegible] back him just for old-time's sake, to go them one better. He was a great ball player and one of the best fellows [illegible]

[illegible] Like all well grown [illegible] baseball above all. [illegible] play one memorable day [illegible] was pitching for the [illegible] Athletic team, an amateur [illegible] tion. Tener was in good trim [illegible] twirled his best. Anson was impressed. He went again [illegible] and finally made an [illegible] to give up the pen which he was pushing none too energetically, over the ledgers of a big Pittsburg steel concern all week and leap into prominence. The trip abroad and the fame [illegible] The trip abroad and the [illegible] promoter to introduce the game to Australia and the old world. [illegible] of exhibition games played [illegible] All-American team picked to oppose it by Johnny Ward, then [illegible] of the New York [illegible] Mark Baldwin of Pittsburg, [illegible] and one of the best [illegible] 1885, and, under coaching, became one of the best known twirlers in the big league. He was already a [illegible] when Capt. Anson was introduced to Lee Lynch of Jackson, Mich., [illegible] theatrical promoter of those days, to join with him and A. G. [illegible]

JOHN K. TENER.

[illegible] Spalding in arranging for a tour of [illegible] of the [illegible] which [illegible] extended in [illegible] tries, was [illegible]

After deserting the diamond Tener settled in Charleroi, a small town not [illegible] He was [illegible] ganized the Charleroi lodge of [illegible] serving three years as its [illegible] In 1902 he was elected its exalted [illegible] treasurer of the grand lodge, [illegible] position until his election [illegible] as exalted ruler.

In addition to being president [illegible] bank, he is secretary and [illegible] urer of the Charleroi Savings bank. Prior to the recent state convention he was mentioned as a [illegible] state treasurer.

NEW EMPEROR OF KOREA.

Son of Deposed Ruler Who Succeeds to the Throne.

Tokio.—The crown prince of Korea, who succeeds to the throne because [illegible]

The Imperial Emperor.

[illegible] that, bears the name Yi Syek. He is a son of the late Empress Min, who was assassinated in 1895, and was born on the 24th of March, 1874. Little is known of Yi Syek except that he was taught what little military training the [illegible] and that he is not a man of strong opinions. [illegible] the throne. He is [illegible] he received [illegible] was slain, because of the brutality [illegible] her [illegible] She was first cut down with [illegible] then taken to a courtyard, wrapped in silk and borne to a grove, where, after wood was piled on the body and kerosene poured over the mass, it was set on fire.

Live Mainly on Rice.

In Asia rice constitutes fully one-half the food supply of the population.

FAMOUS CORNWALLIS CAVE.

Used by British Officers Before Surrender of Yorktown.

Norfolk, Va.—The famous cave used by Lord Cornwallis and his aids to hide during the battle of Yorktown and its surrender is still carefully preserved. It has changed little, if at all, in a century and a half, either as regards its architecture or the general appearance of the interior. It was here that Lord Cornwallis met his officers to hold the last council of war before the battle. The interior is the same as it is to-day, with very few exceptions, as the photographs show. Much interest in the famous retreat has been revived by the Jamestown exposition, which has [illegible] risen only a few miles away. During the summer the cave has been visited by tens of thousands of sightseers.

Korea May Be Land of Cotton.

It is estimated that the area of land in Korea which can probably be put under cotton is capable of producing about 1,000,000 bales of ginned [illegible]

EASY TO INDUCE SLEEP.

Try This Plan When Next the Drowsy God is Coy.

[illegible] the drugstore for help. [illegible] matter how [illegible] he might be doing the day or how much sleep he might have lost the night before, he would [illegible] pillow he was wide awake and lay thus for several hours. [illegible] clerk regarded him quizzically a few [illegible]

"My dear man, you don't want medicine. What you want is something to change the trend of your thoughts. Do as a friend of mine did. He was troubled the same way and found that the old folks plan of imagining sheep passing a barrier and counting them [illegible] of date. So he began trying to [illegible] that night finally.

"The [illegible] for [illegible] ested him he started on the counties of this state. He now has [illegible] his tongue's end, classified up to the fourth letter. Now he is starting on the cities and other [illegible] then he will take up counties.

"A momentary glance at [illegible] the day shows [illegible] when he [illegible] lines more than ten minutes before he is sound asleep.

"To make it short, the study of geography [illegible]

Stern Necessity.

"My dear, what are the advantages of a protective tariff?"

"What on earth do you want to know that for, Julia?"

"Our club is to have a debate tomorrow afternoon, and that's the side I've got to take."

"But you can't get up an argument on a subject like that at such short notice."

"[illegible] All the other girls will be there with their new [illegible] suits."—Harper's Bazar.

CELEBRATE ON 14TH

FRENCH INDEPENDENCE DAY ALSO IN JULY.

Not Heralded with Firing of Pistols and Crackers as in America, But Rejoicing is General.

[illegible] day in France [illegible] the [illegible] unmolested, but [illegible] of the 4th, says the Cincinnati Enquirer.

But [illegible] firing of pistols and bunches of [illegible] before [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] early in [illegible] from [illegible] excursionists—for all [illegible] reduced [illegible] throng the streets [illegible] with flags for their reception.

Every shop is closed. Some of [illegible] give free performances. [illegible] little tables on the sidewalks outside the cafes are crowded [illegible] in apparent defiance [illegible] of [illegible] good humor even where the crowd is denser; rude elbowing and [illegible] rare and when they do occur the offender is not apt to be of French nationality.

During the afternoon, in the direction [illegible] suburbs, dancing [illegible] is frequently seen, not [illegible] the lads and lassies, but round middle-aged and even elderly [illegible] join the couples, whirling [illegible] enjoyment, if little grace.

[illegible] same one would [illegible] to find at a rustic fair. At [illegible] the top by a circle. A prize was offered to the lucky climber who [illegible] after another made the attempt in vain. At last, when these various unfortunate trials had doubtless rendered the pole less slippery, a slender lad of 16 came forward and slowly, but surely, [illegible]

Peals of laughter from a neighboring group drew attention to a little party of street gamins. From a beam [illegible] slowly, an iron saucepan, on whose bottom, imbedded in half an inch of soot and grease, glittered small silver coins. These were the prizes of any boy who, with his hands tied [illegible] his back, was agile enough to pull them off with his teeth. The sight [illegible] ered with black streaks and smears, as they jumped and bobbed for the money swaying above their heads, was one of the most amusing sights of the day.

No matter how hot July 14 may be, it does not prevent the assembling of the pleasure seekers, and, as the long summer twilight began, the crowds in the streets grew greater. On this one day of the year, after a certain hour, no [illegible] horses on the boulevards, whose wide expanse of pavements is converted at short intervals into improvised ballrooms. As the evening shadows close in rows of [illegible] gaslights outline the facades of all the public buildings and, wavering in the light breeze, produce a wonderfully beautiful effect.

Now the crowd drifts in the direction of the Seine, near which there is to be a superb display of fireworks. The bridges, which would afford the most unobstructed view of the whole [illegible] are, unfortunately, closed to the public, but all along the banks [illegible] crowds of people, waiting with [illegible] good nature for the [illegible] then watching with the same unabated interest the brilliant colors reflected from sky and river till the last tinge fades from the calm water.

How many people know that since 1791 no tapestry produced by the famous Gobelin looms has been sold? Several wonderful creations have been presented by France as gifts, [illegible] famous works belong to the state, and a private individual may not buy, no matter how much money is in his purse.

[illegible] looms have been producing priceless treasures. A tapestry is designed to be a background and is in reality a picture woven in cloth, though not to be judged as a painting, as there is only a suggestion of perspective, the pleasing effect being in the marvelous harmonizing of colors.

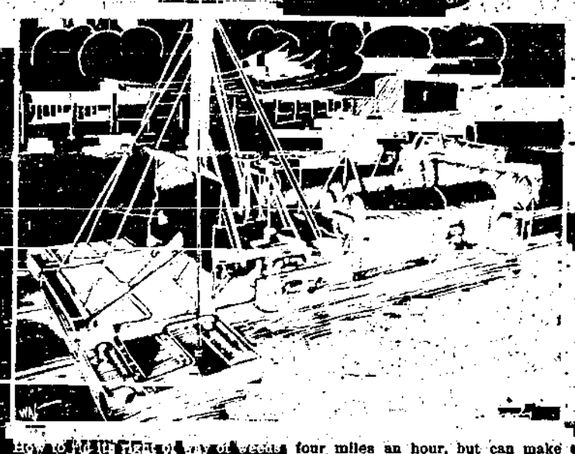
Ten years is often consumed in producing a single piece, the cost being in the neighborhood of $50,000. [illegible] is a complete picture, and there is no [illegible]

"Japanese naval officers are ubiquitous," said an old traveler the [illegible] day. "I was in London a few months ago when I saw a dapper little man in the uniform of a navy lieutenant on the Strand. There was something in his manner which caught my attention. I wondered where it was [illegible] it to mind, but I finally [illegible] When I last beheld him he was [illegible] wardroom steward on an American battleship. I never see a Japanese waiter or [illegible] or in an officers' club on a [illegible] reservation but I wonder who he is and whence he came."

Hint to Mother Nature.

"Nature is a good Mohah," [illegible] the Kentucky colonel. "She supplies every deficiency that is lackin' in human frame. S soon as anything is needed she's right there with it ready in her Pan. It won't be long [illegible] haids, an' we kin see wh[illegible] talk till [illegible]

BIG RAILROAD WEED BURNER



[illegible] weeds so well [illegible] and [illegible] some as to [illegible] fore with the operation of trains, [illegible] seen solved by one of the big western railroads by the invention of [illegible] does the work of 300 [illegible] ex[illegible]

The new gasoline weed burner cov[illegible] miles in 12 hours, while [illegible] fore it has required a gang of 16 men, [illegible] a full day, to cut the weeds from a single mile of track.

The weed burner is built entirely of steel, with regulation trucks. At one end is a gasoline engine, used for propelling [illegible] and pumping the air [illegible] gasoline to the burners, spreading out near the ground. When [illegible] work the weed burner runs three or four miles an hour, but can make a speed of from 12 to 15 miles, and is [illegible] on the road under regular train [illegible]

[illegible] on the car [illegible] contain [illegible] gasoline for a day [illegible] Through rows of corners spread [illegible] well [illegible] the [illegible] gasoline is forced [illegible] into the [illegible] while the old [illegible] not stop future growth.

It is not uncommon on western branch lines, sidings and commercial tracks to see weeds from three to seven feet high, which form a great obstruction to train movement, cause slippery rails and make operation difficult. The weed burner is therefore a solution of a serious railroad problem.

Not for Him.

"You didn't seem to be particularly [illegible] liked her pretty well," replied the widower, "and she was very entertaining and all that, but I noticed [illegible] wife had that kind. It's a pity that so pretty a woman should be disfigured in that way."—Chicago Record-Herald.

[illegible] Friend—One of your [illegible] tells me you raised his salary and told him to get married, under penalty of discharge.

Business Man—Yes; I do that to all [illegible] I don't want [illegible] of your independent, conceited men about my place.

His Sad Mistake.

Fred—So she turned you down, eh?

Joe—Yes, [illegible] the mistake of confessing that my heart was in my mouth when I proposed.

Fred—What [illegible] do with it?

Joe—Oh, she [illegible] of marrying [illegible] in the right place.—Chicago Daily News.

The Other Side of the Question.

"Do you regard the railroads with disfavor?"

"My friend," answered Senator Sorghum, "I cannot yet bring myself to feel that my opinion in such a matter is important. My comfort still depends very largely on whether or not the railways regard me with disfavor."—Washington Star.

BEWARE!
BEWARE!
OF
[illegible]
LOOK FOR THIS PACKAGE
and NAME
Glenn's
Sulphur
Soap
It is suited for all the wants [illegible] wife or children, for the immediate relief of all skin troubles. It removes grease and dirt, heals at the same time. Druggist keeps it.
N. B.—Beware of imitations. Ask for and obtain
GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP.
HILL'S HAIR AND WHISKER DYE, Black and Brown, 50 cts.

ANTIQUITY OF BEER

Beer is of great antiquity. It was [illegible] and afterward by the Greeks [illegible] The Britons continued the brewing of barley malt, calling it ale, until about 1524, when the Germans introduced the brewing of hops with the barley malt, calling it bier, or, in English, beer.

KETTIG'S BOTTLING WORKS,
[illegible], N.Y.
[illegible] all the leading brands of Beer and Ale, both foreign and domestic, which can be had by the case or package. Mail orders receive prompt attention.
SOFT DRINKS OF ALL KINDS
MINERAL WATERS, Etc.

If You Want the Best
CALL FOR THE SCHWARZENBACH
BREWING CO'S
EXPORT
PURE, HEALTHY, NUTRITIOUS.
CATTANOOGA, PA.

Risk to [illegible]
Lack of nourishment is [illegible]
Scott's Emulsion [illegible]

The Gazette.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY AT WELLSBORO, TIOGA COUNTY, PA.

TERMS, $1.50 Per Year in Advance.

FRANK CONKLING, Editor and Prop.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

Time	1 in.	2 in.	3 in.	4 in.	5 in.	10 in.	15 in.
1 Week	$1 00	$2 00	$3 00	$4 00	$5 00	$8 00	$10 00
2 Weeks	1 50	2 50	4 00	5 50	7 00	11 00	14 00
1 Month	2 00	3 50	5 00	7 00	9 00	15 00	18 00
2 Months	3 00	5 00	7 00	9 00	12 00	20 00	25 00
3 Months	4 00	6 00	8 00	10 00	15 00	25 00	30 00
6 Months	6 00	10 00	15 00	20 00	25 00	40 00	50 00
1 Year	10 00	15 00	20 00	30 00	35 00	60 00	100 00

TRANSIENT ADVERTISEMENTS—Ten cents per line for first insertion and five cents per line for every subsequent insertion. No notice taken of less than 25 cents for first insertion.

Double rates will be charged for figure or fancy work.

No advertisement ordered discontinued until all arrearages are paid, unless at the option of the publisher.

BUSINESS CARDS.

DR. H. W. BAILEY,
DENTIST.

Successor to Dr. Frank H. Rose, office over Graves & Mathers' store, Main street, Wellsboro, Pa.—Feb. 1-07.

HARVEY H. GREEN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW AND FIRE INSURANCE.

Office over First National Bank, Wellsboro, Pa. Entrance on Crafton street. Bell Telephone.—Sept. 20, 1906.

JOHN GERKIN,
MERCHANT TAILOR.

Over Agitator office, Wellsboro, Pa. Samples of Imported and Domestic cloths, of beautiful patterns.

BLOOM & DAVIS,
BARBERS.

Shop in the Eastman block, opposite Coles House, Wellsboro, Pa. First-class work. Satisfaction guaranteed.

E. E. BUCK,

Merchant Tailor

WELLSBORO, PA.

We have a large and well selected stock of popular priced Woolens and Worsteds in all the latest effects, both foreign and domestic.

Compare our styles and values with others. It's an interesting study. It will show you the why and wherefore of our constantly increasing business.

PERFECT FIT GUARANTEED.

CALL AND LOOK US OVER.

A choice and select stock of Gents' Furnishing Goods may be found in connection with our merchant tailoring business.

E. E. BUCK.

EVANS BROS.,
ART STORE,
WELLSBORO, PA.

The largest and most complete line of Paintings, Etchings, Pastel Work, etc., in the county. All the latest works of art and novelties. Large assortment of Picture Frames.

Picture Frames Made to Order.

Only place POST AT. CARDS.

UNDERTAKING IN ALL BRANCHES.

BOTH PHONES.

JOB PRINTING
OF ALL KINDS
AT THE
GAZETTE OFFICE

Executed in the highest style of art and at the lowest living prices.

Call and see our samples of Engraved Cards, Wedding Sets, Announcements, etc.

DO YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Scientific American.

A QUEEN IN TROUSERS

This is the latest picture of the only woman sovereign in the world. She is the royal consort Chulalongkorn I., King of Siam, and with her husband and children is now visiting in England.

Distinctive Woman's College an American Institution

By Mary E. Wooley

In No Other Country Have Women Such Opportunities for Higher Education—Indefinable Atmosphere of College Town Imparts Culture—College for Women Not "Fashionable" in England—American Women May Learn to Become Architects, Engineers, Lawyers, Doctors and Ministers—Woman as Critics—The New Professional School, Pedagogy.

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

(Miss Mary E. Wooley, president of Mount Holyoke college, was graduated from Brown university in 1888, and afterward took a post-graduate course there. She has published articles on historical subjects in the Brown Magazine, the American Historical Review and other periodicals. For five years she was a member of the faculty of Wellesley college, at the head of the department of biblical history and literature. She became president of Mount Holyoke college in 1900. In the autumn of 1905 Miss Wooley visited the women's colleges in connection with the universities of England and Scotland.)

A sketch describing the opening of the University of Edinburgh to women says: "The almost universal extension of university privileges to women has been one of the most distinctive notes of the last quarter-century."

The opening of opportunities for the higher education of women has hardly been a distinctive note in the history of the first 25 or 50 years, and every year increases the number of those who avail themselves of these privileges. The progress has been most marked in the United States, and the increase in numbers far greater than in any other country, an increase due in part to the fact that so many institutions are open to women and so many forms of education are possible. Coeducation, the affiliated college, and the separate woman's college offer a wide opportunity for choice and each form has its peculiar advantages. The college affiliated with an old university has access to its accumulated treasures of libraries and equipments without the necessity for coeducation, to which so many friends of higher education object. The coeducational institution assures to its students the best instruction of the university and the stimulus which comes from contact with the masculine minds and their different points of view, and the separate woman's college has the advantage of a more distinctive life and course and equipments planned especially for her.

The last form of college is an American institution and has no counterpart in England. The Royal Holloway college at Egham, Surrey, approaches perhaps most nearly to the American conception in that it is not situated in a university town and has its own resident of lecturers, but its work is to prepare for the Oxford or the University of London examinations and it grants no degree of its own.

The first impression which the observer of the English system of higher education for women receives is that of the close affiliation of the college with the university. It is not strange that Oxford and Cambridge are words by which to conjure with the intellectual prestige of centuries. With their halo of famous names and great achievements it is not to understand the hold which they have and why it is so difficult for the English to comprehend our system and the value of the I[illegible] confered by a college standing alone and on its own merits.

An Englishman of wide knowledge [illegible] that the fathers of Mount Holyoke college, as they saw Yale university [illegible] Oxford and Am[illegible] "[illegible]" [illegible] education which comes from contact with men the fame of whose learning is world-wide, and from access to libraries, museums and laboratories whose treasures have been accumulating for generations and even for centuries, but also that which is "the very atmosphere of the place. The eye is charmed, the mind stimulated and the imagination quickened by the beauty of the surroundings. Even more powerful than the aesthetic and artistic influences are those which come from the memories of great men and their achievements. England is not slow to recognize and commemorate heroism and genius, and the memory of noble living and of high thinking lingers in its university halls as an inspiration to the student life of to-day, which still feels the touch of the vanished hand and hears the sound of the voice that is still.

Into this rich inheritance the woman's college of England and Scotland has entered. In Scotland three of the universities—Edinburgh, Aberdeen and St. Andrew's—admit women on the coeducational basis, the fourth, Glasgow, has a woman's college, Queen Margaret's, in affiliation. In England the woman's college has developed in general from the amalgamation of "associations providing lectures for women" and those "providing halls of residence for women attending the lectures." The last quarter of a century has been significant indeed in the development of this movement, for it is little more than 25 years since the first small beginnings at Cambridge and Oxford, resulting to-day in Newnham and Girton at the former university and four colleges, Somerville, Lady Margaret's, St. Hilda's and St. Hugh's at the latter. Long before Oxford and Cambridge thought of opening their doors to women the movement began in London by the foundation in 1849 of Bedford and Queen's colleges, not "colleges" in the strict sense of the term, but nevertheless an attempt to offer higher education to women. Not until very recently did these colleges become affiliated with the University of London, although for several years they have prepared for the university examinations.

It is interesting to compare the opportunities for higher education in Great Britain with those offered in the United States. There is no comparison as to the numbers availing themselves of these opportunities. Newnham has about 160 students, Girton less than 125, Somerville 60, Lady Margaret's 55 or 60 and St. Hilda's and St. Hugh's about 25 each. There are larger numbers at some of the colleges affiliated with the University of London and at the University of Edinburgh, but in no case are the numbers comparable with those at the principal American colleges for women. A partial explanation of this disparity is to be found in the larger constituency from which our colleges draw, but the chief reason for the difference is that the higher education of women has not as yet become a popular movement in England. It is not in any sense "fashionable" and as a result the class of students is distinctly an earnest one, with few, if any, who go simply for the college life and experience.

In a comparison of the English undergraduate course with the American, one is impressed with the emphasis placed upon specialization, an undergraduate going up to Oxford or Cambridge for a three-years' course in the philosophical or historical "school" devoting his entire time to that one line of work and winning his degree upon that. In [illegible] examination precedes the university training, but that is not invariably true and the comparison with the American system seems to be that of a high degree of specialization versus a broader and more liberal culture.

While it is true that there are many advantages in the affiliation of the college with an old university, there are obvious disadvantages. The [illegible] must often drive heavily when weighted with traditions and conservatism and [illegible] changes be [illegible] with [illegible]. In no country are the opportunities for the [illegible] more [illegible] than in England. [illegible] to the [illegible] of the university [illegible] the [illegible] of the university [illegible] the [illegible] of the university [illegible]

Beef, Iron and Wine

Increases your weight, makes rich blood and builds flesh. If your appetite is poor and you are run down, Beef, Iron and Wine will build you up. Price, 50c. pint bottle.

Corner Drug Store. WM. F. HOWE.

GET A TICKET

with each 25c. or other drink and to the holder of the lucky number we will give away every

FENWAY CHOCOLATES.

To the second lucky one a half pound box.

BLATCHLEY & CAMPBELL'S

Up to date Soda Fountain.

The Gazette.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 5, 1907.

Sheriff Sale.—W. D. Hatfield, Sheriff, [illegible]

LOCAL NOTICES.

Other local news and excess of Bailey [illegible]

The highest market price paid at Fischler's market.—May 23-tf.

A CAR LOAD of Pittsburg Coverlets just received by the Wellsboro Carriage Company.

WANTED.—An intelligent boy to learn the printing trade at the GAZETTE office. None under 16 years [illegible]

[illegible] Carriage Company.

If you contemplate buying Furniture, Carpets, Curtains, or [illegible] just remember that Bailey & Horam, 37 Main street, have a large line.

CHAR body [illegible] lot of wood we ever [illegible] supply any quantity. $2.00 per cord. Aug. 29 4t. GEO. M. SPALDING.

ADVANCE in prices, Sept. 1st: Pea coal, delivered [illegible] 1000 delivered [illegible] Nut, Stove, Egg, delivered [illegible] Aug. 29-2t. GEO. M. SPALDING.

FIFTY engraved cards and plate for $1.00, at this office; 100 for $1.50. Call and see samples of card [illegible] stationery, for which we are prepared to quote lower prices than any other dealer in the county.

THE next stated meeting of the Tioga County Historical Society will be held at the court house on Monday evening, Sept. 9th, at 8 o'clock.

ELIZABETH F. CHANNELL, Secretary.

[illegible] only electrically welded joints, [illegible]

SPENCER-RUMSEY REUNION.—The Spencer-Rumsey reunion will be held at Woodland Park, Saturday, Sept. 7th, 1907. All relatives are earnestly requested to be present. Tea, coffee and sugar will be furnished. Everybody bring cups.—Aug. 29-2t.

WATCH LOST.—A lady's gold watch and fob, with initials "B. [illegible] fob, was lost Friday afternoon, Aug. 23d, on the streets of Wellsboro [illegible] paid for the [illegible] GAZETTE office.

TAKE NOTICE.—The Bell [illegible] for messages over its [illegible] ginning with September 1st, 1907, [illegible] day rate will be in force for all local [illegible] long distance business [illegible] offered before or after six o'clock [illegible] is that the lower rate [illegible] night service has resulted in serious congestion of traffic during the early evening hours, which it is desired to distribute more evenly throughout the day.

[illegible]—Having just completed the work of [illegible] and removing my [illegible] shop on Main street, in rear of the Tioga County [illegible] Co., I am now better prepared than ever before to supply the public with anything in the line of [illegible] D. J. NAYLE.

[illegible]

—Prof. and Mrs. G. C. [illegible] returned last Sunday evening from a two months' visit with Hon. and Mrs. Fred W. Bailey at Denver, Col.

—Miss Edith Bailey left last Friday to become a member of the faculty of one of the colleges in that city.

—Jenkins, who recently purchased a lot on East avenue, [illegible] the house on the corner [illegible] Mr. Jenkins [illegible] design completed for a new house.

—Miss Mary A. Austin leaves to-day for Red Hook, Dutchess county, N. Y., where she will [illegible] schools.

—The local Hebrews will observe their New Year's day next Monday and all places of business conducted by them will be closed on that day.

—Last Thursday afternoon O. M. Mitchell had his right hand badly [illegible] while [illegible] Three fingers were amputated.

—Fred W. Siemens returned home last evening from a business trip to Philadelphia and points in Jersey [illegible] months. He looks well improved in health.

[illegible] County, [illegible] ship in the Auditor General's office [illegible]

—Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Shaw are attending the "Old Home Week" celebration in Buffalo. They will also witness the dedication of the Mckinley monument.

—Mr. [illegible] Mr. William [illegible] left on Monday for a [illegible] about a month.

—Fred G. Keck and Miss Maud M. Losinger, both of Marsh Creek, were married last Thursday afternoon at the Presbyterian manse by Rev. [illegible] Shaw, D. D.

—Claude E. Bennett, of Wellsboro, Pa., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bennett, the first of the week. He came over in the saddle.—Roch. Courier.

—Misses Louise Marsh, [illegible] Lida Bailey and Mrs. [illegible] attended a reception [illegible] Thursday evening given [illegible] and Mrs. Henry L. Baldwin.

—Miss Edith Mudrack, formerly of this borough, who recently graduated as a trained nurse from the Arnot-Ogden Hospital in Elmira, [illegible] her home [illegible] uncle, John Davis.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Mathers and [illegible] and Mrs. H. F. [illegible] day in their White steamer [illegible] for a trip to Philadelphia and other places. They expect to be gone about a week.

—Jerome D. Niles, [illegible] was a Sunday guest at [illegible] his mother, Mrs. Augustus Niles. He returned to his home in [illegible] Monday evening.

—Miss Lottie Focht, who [illegible] the vacation in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Focht, returned to Corning, N. Y., where she is [illegible] a millinery store.

—In the pavement work on Charlesworth street, brick from Patton, Cambria county, has been substituted for the brick from Corning used on the Main street stretch. Several [illegible] loads arrived last week.

—Earle Furman, who has been employed as driver on the express wagon the past two years, left yesterday morning for Binghamton, N. Y., where he [illegible] Culver.

—Messrs. W. G. Benjamin and son, Frank Benjamin, and Minor Green expect to leave to-day for [illegible] West Virginia, where they will build an office and a boarding house for the Tioga Lumber Company. They will be absent several months.

—Henry W. Lush, of Galeton, was in town last Thursday. Within [illegible] of farmers in this [illegible] chased 2,500 pounds in two days [illegible] week. Mr. Lush still retains his reputation as a veritable hustler.

—Dr. Charles N. Dartt, his daughter, Mrs. Thomas H. Edwards, [illegible] Miss Gwendolen Edwards, all of Kansas City, are visiting relatives and friends in this place and vicinity. Mr. Dartt is a brother of Hiram W. Dartt, of this borough.

—Two more cases of typhoid fever developed in the "Frog town" district last week. Charles Evans, one of the victims, who lives on Nichols street, was taken to the Williamsport Hospital. Edson, a young son of Orin Wetmore, is also sick with the disease.

—Grand Army Post and the Women's Relief Corps will hold a special memorial service on the death of Justin John I. Mitchell, deceased, at George Cook Post rooms next Saturday at 6:30 p. m. sharp. The [illegible] will be [illegible] The friends of [illegible]

—Editor J. M. Miller and wife left on Saturday morning for a ten days' visit with [illegible] Westwood, N. J.

—Messrs. E. D. Fisher and N. R. White have purchased the timber lot of 37 acres on the T. B. Culver place in Charleston.

There is no occasion to worry any longer about the weather. The dog days are over and the straw hat will soon be relegated.

Mr. E. R. Blanchard and daughter, Val, spent Sunday at their home in Wellsboro. They were accompanied by Mrs. Blanchard, who has been visiting in New York city.

—[illegible] in town [illegible]

[illegible] Jon[illegible] of Muncy, [illegible] Mrs. Frank B. Wetmore, [illegible] evening. He slipped and fell [illegible] the flight of steps leading from Purple street to the [illegible] and broke his right arm [illegible]

[illegible] aged 83 years, [illegible] his home [illegible] last Sunday [illegible] Deceased was a member of the Civil War, being a member of Co. K, 50th Regt. Pa. Vols. Funeral services were held at the house on Tuesday morning.

The marriage of Mail Carrier Bertram Jones and Miss Katherine [illegible] was announced on Tuesday. The ceremony was performed at [illegible] Waterville on Aug. 14th, Rev. Mr. Beardslee officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will occupy the house on the corner of Main and Water streets, to be vacated by Mr. Wetmore, shortly. The young couple have been receiving the congratulations of their many friends since the announcement of the happy event.

—The rain of Monday night and Tuesday broke the protracted drought in this locality. Farmers from [illegible] the rain dropped the corn and [illegible] seconds, but [illegible] the potatoes and other crops. We ought to be thankful for what rain fell, as the drought might have continued until all hope of a crop of any harvested would have been cut off. Crops [illegible] able to get along without some [illegible]

A Autumn Wedding.

On Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock a quiet wedding occurred at the home of Mrs. Fred Osman on Riberolle street, when her daughter, Pauline [illegible] was married to George Miller, of Galeton, [illegible] Wellsboro. The ceremony was performed by Rev. [illegible] Hayes in the presence of the families and few intimate friends of the bride and groom. The bride was attired in a handsome [illegible] under the direction of Mrs. Lizzie Riggs. Mr. and Mrs. Miller left by [illegible] for Galeton, where they have commenced housekeeping in a newly furnished home.

The bride is one of Wellsboro's most estimable young ladies and has a [illegible] of friends who wish her [illegible] happiness. For several years she has been a member of the faculty of the Wellsboro public schools, a position which she filled to the satisfaction of [illegible] borough, where he is known as a straightforward, honest and [illegible] young man. He is now engaged in a successful livery business at Galeton. Mr. and Mrs. Miller have our best wishes for a long and happy life.

Pink and White Wedding.

A wedding will be celebrated this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kiefer, on [illegible] avenue, when their daughter, Nina L., will be united in marriage to Andrew [illegible] Dort, of Stony Fork. Rev. W. H. [illegible] D. D., will officiate. The ceremony to be performed in the [illegible] which will be [illegible] with [illegible] sister, Miss Florence Kiefer, and [illegible] will act as [illegible] will wear a gown of [illegible] with [illegible] About [illegible] relatives and friends of the contracting parties will witness the ceremony.

Following the usual congratulations a wedding luncheon will be served, the color scheme being pink and white. Mr. and Mrs. Dort will leave on the 4:30 train for a wedding trip and will be at home to their friends in Stony Fork after September 14th.

Death of Mrs. Almon Wetmore.

Mrs. [illegible] died about one o'clock on Tuesday [illegible] street. She had been in poor health for some time, the immediate cause of her death being heart failure.

Mrs. Wetmore was born at Welsh Settlement in Charleston township, where she lived until about 35 years ago when she removed to Wellsboro with her family and with the exception of about three years had resided [illegible] her husband survived by three sons: Frederick M., Morris P. and Herbert [illegible] Wetmore, all of Wellsboro.

The deceased was quiet and retiring in her ways and manners and possessed of a loving disposition [illegible] esteemed and [illegible] by all who knew her as a [illegible] neighbor. The funeral will be held from the [illegible] this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. A. C. Shaw, D. D., will officiate.

A Literal Fact.

It is unfortunate for Wellsboro to have its water supply controlled by a private corporation whose interest in dividends is paramount, and whose interest in maintaining a sufficient supply of pure water is secondary. This is a deplorable condition of affairs indeed, and it is hardly within the realm of consideration that the patrons of the Wellsboro Water Company are required to pay [illegible] for water [illegible]

BAD WRECK AT BLACKWELLS.

[illegible]—Wreckage Caught Fire.

A bad freight wreck occurred at Blackwells on Monday morning [illegible] resulting in the [illegible] the [illegible] three bunk cars used by [illegible] off the end of the switch and into a small building used as a [illegible] lunch room, telescoping it. [illegible] the dining car box cars were forced along by the back of the train [illegible] in the train [illegible] shoved into the depot [illegible]

[illegible] tened to the [illegible]

No sooner had the crashing of broken timbers ceased than fire broke out in the ruins [illegible] time and threatened to [illegible] of the painters' cars on another track [illegible] also Barton's hotel building [illegible] the station.

The residents formed a bucket brigade and through hard work they succeeded in staying the progress of the flames and saving the hotel and [illegible] buildings.

[illegible] Blackwell lost all his [illegible] being killed by the cars which struck his building and knocked it into smithereens.

Both the north and [illegible] passenger trains were delayed several hours by the wreck. [illegible]

[illegible] was performed by Dr. Harry J. Donaldson, of Williamsport, a Wellsboro boy. Mrs. Frank Benevoir, the wife of a prominent resident of Cross Fork, [illegible] an accident a few days ago, which resulted in the rupture of an [illegible] phoned to Williamsport for Dr. Donaldson.

Dr. Donaldson operated upon the patient, removing twelve inches of intestines which had been exposed for over twelve hours and which were then paralyzed. This is said to be the most delicate operation ever performed in that section. The woman survived the effects of the operation and is now improving and expects to be able to leave her bed in a few days.

Low Fares to Western Points via New York Central Lines.

[illegible] one-way tickets on sale [illegible] Oct. 30th. Ticket agents [illegible] or address A. [illegible] Agent, Williamsport, Pa.

Big Day for Odd Fellows.

(Continued from First Page.)

[illegible] to the United States Senate!"

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. [illegible] and the band Grand [illegible] Hart held an informal reception, shaking hands with a good portion of the large crowd before leaving the [illegible]

[illegible] of the representatives of the several lodges in the county was held in the Odd Fellows' Hall at 11 a. m., when Lawrenceville was selected as the place to locate the next annual picnic. The following from the Lawrenceville Lodge were elected officers to perfect arrangements for the picnic: President, J. T. Hotchkiss; Secretary, George B. Colby; Treasurer, E. B. Stage.

COUNTY AFFAIRS.

Of Local Events and Happenings of the Past Week.

—Read our clubbing offer with the American Farm World on the fourth page.

—Over 100 men are employed on the new road work between Covington and Blossburg.

—A farmer near Knoxville harvested [illegible] wheat from four and [illegible]

[illegible] Normal opens next Monday. The registry for the [illegible] large.

—Postmaster S. I. [illegible] and A. T. West, of Middlebury, [illegible] on Monday morning for Oklahoma.

—Sergeant Charles Crossley, after a service of nine years in the U. S. Army, is visiting his parents at Mansfield.

[illegible] years of age, [illegible] of Roseville, [illegible] grocery. He had long been in poor health.

The citizens of Westfield are making [illegible] Northern Condensed Milk Co., of Coudersport, to establish a condensery at that place.

—A swell wedding in Coudersport last Wednesday is reported a great financial success. From the Potter Democrat it is learned that presents to the bride aggregated $14,000, without figures on the cut glass, china, silver and linen.

—Horatio Lamb, aged 87 years, of Mansfield, died at his home in that place last Sunday night. He was a veteran of the Civil War and was one of the pioneer settlers of that locality. The deceased is survived by his widow, four sons and one daughter.

—Wm. Megargee, of Lawrenceville, and Miss Elvira E. Butler, of Farmington, were married Thursday, Aug. 22d, at the home of the officiating pastor, Rev. Wm. J. Brown. The bride has been employed as saleslady in the store of A. W. Imes & Co. and the groom is an employe at the cut glass factory.

—Editor Marsh, of the Westfield Press, [illegible] as was shown [illegible] one of the boys, [illegible] asked how much sulphur was a pound. The clerk informed him that it was ten cents a pound and the careful buyer said: "Why, I can get it in Wellsboro for nine cents a pound." "Yes," snapped the clerk, "and you can go to hell and get it for nothing."

—A few days ago a fiend of the lowest order, who gave his name as Wagner, [illegible] Wagner with other crimes, notably the murder of Myers, alias Troinkle, the alleged murderer of Mrs. Payne at Troy bridge in 1903. Similarity of circumstances in the crimes and description of the man led to the efforts but no developments served to substantiate the theory. Wagner has confessed to the crime which is one of the most atrocious in the history of Western Pennsylvania.

G. A. R. [illegible] Spring [illegible]

New York Central [illegible] tickets [illegible] one fare for round [illegible] Sept. 7, 8 [illegible] Sept. to return [illegible] to 17, [illegible] give full particulars.—Aug 29-2t.

Bank Report.

REPORT of the condition of the FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF WELLSBOROUGH, at Wellsboro, in the State of Pennsylvania, at the close of business, August 22, 1907.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$1,370,523.52
Overdrafts, secured and unsecured	12,011.02
U. S. bonds to secure circulation	125,000.00
U. S. bonds to secure U. S. deposit	50,000.00
Premiums on U. S. bonds	8,750.00
Bonds, securities, etc	153,450.00
Banking-house, furniture, fixtures	25,000.00
Other real estate owned	42,317.00
Due from National banks (not reserve agents)	714.22
Due from State banks and bankers	28,128.30
Due from approved reserve agents	88,491.50
Checks and other cash items	7,303.57
Notes of other National Banks	1,500.00
Fractional paper currency, nickels and cents	126.09
Lawful money reserve in bank, viz:
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
Capital stock paid in	$125,000.00
Surplus fund	200,000.00
Undivided profits, less expenses and taxes paid	76,936.57
National bank notes outstanding	125,000.00
State bank notes outstanding	31,498.95
Due to other National banks	170.00
Due to State banks and bankers	[illegible]
Dividends unpaid	[illegible]
Individual deposits subject to check	[illegible]
Demand certificates of deposit	[illegible]
Certified checks	[illegible]
Cashier's checks outstanding	[illegible]
Bills payable	50,000.00
Total	[illegible]

State of Pennsylvania, County of Tioga, ss:

I, R. W. Gleckler, Cashier of the above-named Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

R. W. GLECKLER, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 28th day of August, 1907.

WALTER SHERWOOD, Notary Public.

CORRECT—Attest: H. [illegible], Geo. H. Derby and W. D. VanHorn, Directors. Wellsboro, Sept. 5, 1907.

Estray Notice.

TWO HOUNDS, one black and white and one red, strayed into my premises on August 17th. Any information leading to the recovery of the dogs will be appreciated by the undersigned. H. B. CLOS.

Piano for Sale at a Bargain.

A NEW PIANO, the only one in stock, will be sold at a bargain. The instrument can be seen at the home of Charles Fischler, on Kelsey street. Wellsboro. Aug. 29, 1907-tf.

"From an article in the Saturday Evening Post we quote:

"The best return from savings and carefully managed income is, not the money accumulated, not the interest it earns, but peace of mind. The thrifty all say that.

"The man who finances himself and builds up a surplus is free from worry in his work. And he is also in a position to take certain advantages in selling his services, getting more for them from year to year and making them worth more."

BEGIN TO-DAY | 3½% | DOLLAR DEPOSITS WELCOME.

Tioga County Savings & Trust Co.

The First National Bank

OF WELLSBORO, PA.

Capital Stock - - $125,000

Surplus and Profits, $325,000

Resources Over, - [illegible]

43 YEARS OF CONTINUED SUCCESS 43

[illegible] by uniform courtesy, sound business methods, immense resources and [illegible]

No [illegible] to have our most careful attention. None too large to be absolutely [illegible] which is COMPOUNDED in our Savings Department.

[illegible] DEPOSITS PAYABLE ON DEMAND.

IF YOU ARE NOT A CUSTOMER OF THIS BANK START IN AT ONCE.

[illegible]

W. D. VAN HORN, [illegible] H. F. MARSH, [illegible] R. W. GLECKLER, C[illegible]

The Gazette.
WELLSBORO, PA
THURSDAY, SEPT. 5, 1907.

FRANK CONEVERY, - Editor and Publisher.

SHEATZ HELPED MACHINE.

(Special Correspondence.)

[illegible] his Will- [illegible] week John O. [illegible] he had endeavored to [illegible] fan of the [illegible] so to [illegible] diers' pensions under the Cochran act, as amended in the House Committee on Appropriations. The records show that he never uttered a syllable in favor of any revenue bill during the session during the sessions of 1903 and 1905 he [illegible] against the revenue bills introduced by Mr. Creasy as well as [illegible] other reform measures, and his speech indicates that he proposes to make [illegible] of false pretense

The truth is that Mr. Sheatz [illegible] He [illegible]

[illegible] He [illegible] the country to [illegible] on a few conditions [illegible] his support [illegible] machine as either of the [illegible] "A little leven levens the lump," it is said, and Sheatz cut his leven down to the minimum.

His [illegible] session of 1903. [illegible] not [illegible] the flow of corruption [illegible] session as in the [illegible] was bad [illegible] supported all [illegible] bills. In fact it [illegible] for the [illegible] session. If the [illegible] legislation of the session of [illegible] work of the session of [illegible] have been undoubtedly iniquity, fraud and fatuity on [illegible] and the legislation of 1903 [illegible]

Probably [illegible] of the session of 1903 [illegible] by [illegible] Senator [illegible] in the criminal courts of Philadelphia [illegible] he would have died [illegible] Spring under that he [illegible] contested a seat to the Legislature would have been [illegible] he would have died [illegible] him. He [illegible] for his [illegible] and [illegible] If they had been less [illegible] and more [illegible] legislating the laws and the constitution [illegible]

[illegible] of the session of [illegible] hanging over him, he [illegible] At on the new papers. He [illegible] promised that he would [illegible] so to [illegible] money and [illegible] was the spawn of the mad passion He and Pennypacker together evolved it from their brains, and Grady [illegible]

It was the crowning infamy of [illegible] that nobody believed it [illegible] Legislators regarded it as [illegible] from the mouth of a victim of rabies.

Goosing Legislators for Muzzler.

But it was no joke, so far as the machine managers were concerned It wasn't forced in immediate consideration Time was allowed to recover from the shock which its first appearance caused to the public conscience Then the screws were put on Charity appropriations [illegible] Every [illegible] to [illegible] tors and Representatives to the support of the measure Two [illegible] the [illegible] owners and editors [illegible] newspapers made pitiable objects as they [illegible] their forced votes for [illegible] with [illegible] of the [illegible]

Nobody misunderstood the purpose [illegible] of the measure The [illegible] Thomas V Cooper for [illegible] a trusted and safe leader of [illegible] horning [illegible] lots and [illegible] to [illegible] their nefarious [illegible] No [illegible] eloquent or im- [illegible] was ever delivered [illegible] that iniquity Rot- [illegible] Able [illegible] and the [illegible] of [illegible] to no purpose. [illegible] purity which [illegible]

[illegible] Republican candidate for [illegible] (Legislative Record [illegible] for office to the pro- [illegible] of the constitution that [illegible] to be [illegible] at [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] machine during the legislative session [illegible] The reformers of Philadelphia in their up-hill fight against [illegible] frauds [illegible] difficulties. One [illegible] of the [illegible] during the session of one of [illegible] bill was introduced to top this [illegible] double to the [illegible] It [illegible] the [illegible] Mr. [illegible] Legislative Record [illegible] 1903, [illegible] in Cambria [illegible] of that county protested against it, [illegible] Record, 1903, page [illegible] $1,070 for badges for a legislative junket to Philadelphia, Legislative Record, 1903, page 2685 [illegible] was [illegible] ballot bill, Legislative [illegible] 1903, page 3438; for unseating [illegible] Speaker of the House [illegible] denounced as a [illegible] outrage," Legislative Record, 1903 page [illegible] He also voted to [illegible] Ferry, Democrat, of Luzerne county, Legislative Record, page 2940.

The Iniquitous Water Snakes.

The session of 1903 was known as the "Water Snake" session of the Legislature. That is to say during that session a number of bills were introduced chartering water companies, giving corporations authority to dam rivers and streams, [illegible] the incorporation of filtering companies and seizing water power, water privileges and water sheds in every direction. These measures became such a menace that Governor [illegible] servile as he [illegible] stand for them and [illegible] not be sent to him for [illegible]

Harry Kingston of Philadelphia was the author of probably the worst of this bunch of iniquities. He was a shrewd lawyer in Philadelphia, free from the burden of conscience or [illegible] and had himself sent to the Legislature for the express purpose of exploiting legislation His water bill was a "cookoo." It gave [illegible] corporation [illegible] power to dam any stream in the State, change the bed of any [illegible] course and do anything else that [illegible] and avarice might suggest. It [illegible] by John O. [illegible] 2485.

[illegible] Sheatz [illegible] to be a reformer during his first session in the Legislature. He didn't [illegible] to be as open in political immoralities as Stulb, Rupp, Pugh and others. His [illegible] and for that [illegible] independent neighborhood and though the machine could nominate anybody it liked, there was no [illegible] of the election of a notor- [illegible] in the [illegible] during the session of 1903, it [illegible] that he voted with the [illegible] whenever his vote was necessary.

The System Rather Than the Man.

But after all it is less the individual than the system which is to be considered in [illegible] political conditions at present. If Mr. [illegible] year ago the public never would have known of the graft in the capitol and the looting would be going on with increased vigor now The [illegible] contemplated [illegible] of $25 000 000 and the full amount would have been taken Minority [illegible] that result

No stream is purer than its source No man is stronger than his party John O Sheatz is neither mentally nor morally stronger than Pennypacker Snyder and Mathues. They [illegible] looting [illegible]

[illegible] that one Chairman a few years ago took home "a roll as thick as his [illegible]

Penrose Plays Foxy Politics.

Penrose didn't dare [illegible] of his candidate, however. On the contrary to conceal his purpose he declared a preference for another, having first ascertained that [illegible] wouldn't consent. Then he [illegible] the country delegates to put [illegible] reluctance. But [illegible] controlled the convention also. He named the presiding officer [illegible] and even [illegible] of the State [illegible] But he favored Sheatz [illegible] event of [illegible]

G. D. H.

The President's proposed naval [illegible] in the Pacific promises to be [illegible] enterprise, but [illegible] the expense and the Roosevelt political estate will get the benefit. [illegible] coal bill alone will amount to [illegible] million dollars and [illegible] times that sum. It will convince the world that the big stick [illegible] of California that ready [illegible]

Speaker Cannon declares that there will be no legislation inimical to [illegible] during the next session of Congress. In other words he will not [illegible] any [illegible] or "reformation roughnecks," of any description. It is about time the Speaker should reassure his clients. Considering [illegible] paid by the trusts to take care of their interests in Congress, he was entirely too indulgent with Roosevelt during the last session

Some of our esteemed contemporaries are taking the Knox Presidential boom too seriously. The Penrose machine never intended that Knox boom should be regarded in any light other than that of a joke. Penrose simply wanted to divert the public eye from himself and sprung the Knox boom as the most available expedient. It [illegible] purpose, however, and it's [illegible] worth while talking about it

It has been intimated that Representative Sheatz voted against the resolution introduced by Mr Creasy of Columbia county, during the session [illegible] the rate question of [illegible] but the indexing of the Legislative Record of that year is so bad that it is impossible to verify the statement. We are assured by a member of the House at that time, however, and who was present when the vote was taken, that only one Republican voted for the resolution and his name was not Sheatz.

Governor Stuart is not looting the State Treasury at present, for various reasons. Not by that everybody [illegible] he wouldn't loot the [illegible] looting. But [illegible] the [illegible] that they are ready to resume if the opportunity presents itself

As Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations Mr Sheatz recommended [illegible] to exactly double the aggregate of the revenues of the State That indicates poor business judgment [illegible] ought to [illegible] a man of good business intelligence.

The value of minority representation [illegible] reforms in the administration of the State government. That [illegible] the case it would be wise [illegible] people to continue the minority representation. If Sheatz is elected State Treasurer minority representation will end and political plundering will be resumed.

"CHARGE IT TO WHITNEY."

From [illegible] be a Catch Phrase in [illegible]

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 3.—[illegible] be a political catchword with the opponents of Henry M Whitney the [illegible] millionaire, who seeks the Democratic nomination for Governor over Gen Charles H Bartlett

[illegible] orders giving Boston newspaper men and local political leaders carte blanche have made the phrase "Charge it to Whitney" a joyful password in leading Western Massachusetts hotels

[illegible] FRUIT PROFITS

[illegible] Acre [illegible] $12,000 [illegible]

Denver Sept 3 One acre of fruit land that will yield 4 000 boxes of apples from its 100 [illegible] and a [illegible] of $19 000 and a farm that will yield 15 000 boxes of apples which will bring the owner $60 000 are two of the sights I saw [illegible] through the [illegible] for the Fruit fair [illegible] of the [illegible]

FOREMOST ACTOR DEAD.

Mansfield Passes Away at His Country Estate in New London.

New London Conn., Sept [illegible] Mansfield [illegible] death was due to other ailments.

[illegible] the actor's last [illegible] the loved ones at his bedside.

Mr. Mansfield was taken ill [illegible] on March 24 last at Scarborough, Pa.

It was Mr. Mansfield's idea that [illegible] and [illegible] Conn., was being prepared for him, [illegible] family took a cottage at Saranac [illegible]

Richard Mansfield died one of the wealthiest actors on the [illegible] He left a fortune that will reach in round figures more than [illegible]

The death of Richard Mansfield [illegible] almost the sole topic in the theatrical world of this country and London Prominent actors and managers unite in paying tributes to his genius, equalled since Booth and Irving at the height of their careers. [illegible] follow the announcement [illegible] with long and appreciative [illegible] of his struggles and triumphs [illegible] He [illegible] his skill [illegible] manager he is called the [illegible] of America." The sad [illegible] of his brilliant [illegible] life [illegible]

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept [illegible] Seven passengers were thrown [illegible] when the train in which they were [illegible] section of the [illegible] on the [illegible] Avenue [illegible] accident [illegible] of [illegible] seats.

Ten Years for Land Frauds.

San Francisco, Sept. 4.—United States Commissioner Heacock [illegible] sentenced John A. Benson and E B. Perrin, recently convicted of land [illegible] to ten years imprisonment in the Alameda county jail and to pay a fine of $1,000 [illegible]

$50,000 Monument for a Horse.

[illegible] been [illegible] Henry Graves, [illegible] of Chicago, who is dying at his [illegible] It will memorize Ike Cook, a [illegible] trotter which he owned fifty [illegible]

GET READY FOR WINTER

Now is the time to make estimates and prepare for installing in your homes plants for

HOT WATER, STEAM AND HOT AIR HEATING.

Everything in the Hardware line at the Hardware Store of

GARDNER & CO.
WELLSBORO, PA.

Don't wait. Let us give you figures now. All work done by practical and experienced workmen.

Soft and Hard Coal Burners are now arriving.

Dairymen who are selling milk to the new condensery are greatly pleased with the best in the market. All accessories for handling milk can be obtained at [illegible] and see the Champion Automatic Milk Cooler and Aerator. GARDNER & CO.

BUHL MILK CANS

For Young and Old

The Model Dry Goods and Star Clothing House are prepared to supply for all demands. [illegible] will, no doubt, need something new in Clothing, Furnishings, Shoes, Valises, Ladies' Coats, Shirt Waists, Gloves or Hats. The young folks who are about to enter the schools will need something new in Boys' and Childrens' Clothing, Waists, Caps and Shoes. Girl's ready-to-wear dresses or material to make dresses, which we are showing in this fall's styles in different colors and prices. You are invited.

Model Dry Goods & Star Clothing House
FINKELSTEIN BROS.

The Gazette AND THE Tri-Week World, ONLY $2.00 PER YEAR, CASH IN ADVANCE.

Subscribers must pay all arrearages for the GAZETTE at the rate of $1.50 per year before taking advantage of this offer.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Concerning the Arrival of New Goods

[illegible] The store will [illegible] of the newest and latest goods.

§ You [illegible] what is correct—you can [illegible] see the articles for yourself.

§ We are only too glad to have you come and look. [illegible] we are assured that we shall surpass by far all previous showings, as is but right for Wellsboro's newest and finest store.

§ We have already received the first shipments of

"WOOLTEX COATS"

Styles as [illegible] in the September [illegible] Home Journal.

ALSO OF

MICHAELS-STERN

FINE CLOTHING

The kind on which we've made a [illegible]

Our "Quality Grocery" Solicits Your Grocery Orders.

[illegible] best and purest goods at very [illegible]

¶ We have the most complete telephone system in town. Use it. Or shall we have a [illegible]

3 lb. box N. B. C. Sodas .25
Excel'r Butter Crackers .09

MAIL ORDERS RECEIVE BEST ATTENTION.

Max Bernkopf & Bro

PHONE ORDERS RECEIVE BEST ATTENTION.

BEECH-NUT PRODUCTS

Beech-Nut Just In

Only another one—we keep selling them and they keep coming, but we happened to think we had never mentioned them.

Beech-Nut Peanut Butter—appetizing and healthful; with all the good, true flavor of the peanut, 10c.

Beech-Nut Baked Beans with Tomato Sauce—in the sanitary, enamel-lined can fastened without solder—the best goods in the [illegible] package, 10c. and 15c.

Beech-Nut delicious sliced Dried Beef in glass cans—a delicacy [illegible]

[illegible] Peach Jam and Crab Apple Jelly must be tried to be appreciated, 15c.

IN-ER-SEAL GOODS

We handle great quantities of the productions of the National Biscuit Company in the famous In-er-Seal waterproof and [illegible] package. This enables us to assure you fresh goods. Glance [illegible] not something you would like to try.

How Richard Was Saved

By Nellie Crawey Gilmore

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

Miss Rasdale contemplated [illegible] severely in the mirror that [illegible] moment [illegible] that [illegible] but even [illegible] and [illegible] cast impatient glances [illegible] the car, [illegible] time a door [illegible] closed. [illegible] is it to Johnstown—she asked, "and are you [illegible] I can make safe [illegible] Johnstown now in ten minutes. [illegible] about eight [illegible] "Then [illegible] yes, you may dust [illegible] of money quietly into [illegible]

When [illegible] stepped out on the platform, [illegible] her [illegible] of the lashes. She pulled down [illegible] veil and [illegible] a huge [illegible] close up about her neck, [illegible] the waiting room. [illegible] crowd of modestized [illegible] there, and the air was thick and suffocating from a mammoth heating stove in the center of the room. Miss Rasdale found a seat in a deserted corner and endured it for exactly five minutes. Afterwards she consulted her watch, and found that two full hours must elapse before she could get her train. She started up impatiently, and out into the fine white drizzle, to walk away the time, and incidentally, some of the surplus energy that was piling up on her nerves with every passing second.

Somehow, the whole journey and everything connected with it was intolerable to her—had been so from the beginning. And had it not been for the faithful promise she had made to act as maid-of-honor at the wedding of her best friend, Mazie Howard—given when they two were at school together, and renewed at each recurrent visit between them—she never would have consented to the immolation.

Out in the biting air, she quickened her footsteps and walked briskly for several squares, till she could feel the blood pulse warm and free in her body.—Something like calmness came to her then, and with the tonic of it racing through her veins, she hastened on and on, totally unmindful of the passage of time.

When Miss Rasdale came to herself, she was standing at the end of a street, in front of a small pavilion looking out over the lake. She looked again at her watch, noting with paling face that only 15 minutes remained in which to get back to the depot and catch her train! A sudden panic seized her; what should she do? She turned [illegible] about her for [illegible] of conveyance—car, cab, anything—when her eyes fell on the strangely familiar figure of a very-good-to-look-at young man coming directly toward her, and entirely unconscious of her identity.

"Mr. Henderson!" she exclaimed, as he was on the point of brushing past her.

"You!" He lifted his hat in swift recognition. "Well, this is certainly no end of surprises," he smiled, extending a cordial hand.

Miss Rasdale had been staring at him incredulously for the half of a minute. "It seems we are both in somewhat of a dilemma," she managed to falter out presently.

"How so?"

"Why, the wedding, of course! But I simply must catch that train. Isn't there a car or something—"

"Oh, yes; there's a car all right; the red one over there will take you straight to the depot, but I'm very much afraid—" He shook his head discouragingly.

Miss Rasdale gave him a helpless glance. "Oh, dear!" she cried. "Don't try to tell me that I shall—"

"Looks that way now," interposed Henderson, as they moved off toward the car. He regarded her quizzically for an instant. "The wedding will somehow proceed, anyway," he suggested materially.

"But—but you?"

"Oh, [illegible] but [illegible]

"Oh, the bridegroom's all right; I guess as bridegrooms go," he an[illegible]

"[illegible] don't [illegible] Henderson laughed heartily. "But you would if you knew old Dick as well as I do."

"Oh, Dick! But isn't that your name—Richard Henderson?"

"To my everlasting sorrow, I must confess it. We [illegible] as it happens, [illegible] and we both [illegible] from Pittsburg. [illegible] to all the bills and duns, [illegible] came in for most of the [illegible]. Still"—he smiled in [illegible] confidence—"I shall have [illegible]

Miss Rasdale watched the flying [illegible] in the light in [illegible] eyes. Her face had relaxed [illegible] and a certain [illegible] prodigal splendor of gold over the [illegible]

[illegible] to a standstill [illegible] in [illegible] stepped down on the [illegible] down a steep hill [illegible] and outround a thronged [illegible]

Miss Rasdale turned nonplussed [illegible] "May you don't think there's another I could get in time?" she questioned faintly.

"Not in time for the wedding—no." [illegible] will leave here?

"I could easily find that out for you. But really, don't you think it would be better for you to wait over a day? You knew my sister Anna at school. She's married and living here now. She'd be delighted to have you stop with her, I know. Come home with us, and let's watch the old year die together? Surely that would be a better way than traveling all night on a disagreeable train."

Miss Rasdale hesitated. The prospect was certainly alluring, but—

"I don't intend to take 'no' for an answer. We'll just get into this carriage that's driving up now."

She allowed herself to be led, without resistance, and helped to a seat in the carriage, and without resistance—or regret—to be whirled away over the smooth gravel.

Once, when she thought he was looking the other way, she stole a surreptitious glance into Henderson's face, but the quick look he flashed back revealed something in the gray-black eyes she could not mistake, and broke down the pretense between them all at once.

"Viola," he said, laying his hand for a moment over hers, "after months of misery and silence and doubt—almost despair—Fate, it seems, has mercifully thrust you across my path. It isn't a day of miracles, and surely this must mean something. I want you to tell me, here and now, the reason for your sudden coldness—the abrupt cessation of your letters—the return of mine, unopened—"

Miss Rasdale broke into a little uncertain laugh that bore a swift suggestion of tears in its transience. "I—it's too ridiculous," she jerked out, coloring furiously, "but—but when Mazie wrote me that she was to marry a Mr. Richard Hen—"

Henderson laughed outright. "Again the under dog!" He bent toward her suddenly then—so close that his warm breath lifted the fine hair from her temples. "Viola," he began pleadingly, "after what has happened, we really oughtn't to take a second risk. There is but one thing to do, isn't there, dear? We can be married in time to see this unlucky old year pass out of existence, and go back home on our wedding trip. Dick might, by some untoward chance, succeed in getting annihilated in a railroad [illegible] be called upon to husband his widow—"

Miss Rasdale had been staring out of the carriage window at the rows of whirling trees and cottages. She smiled swiftly as she turned and met the impassioned glance fixed upon her. A wave of quick color ran from neck to brow.

"I think, perhaps, I would better try to save you," she said softly. "And we will begin the New Year on a surer basis, at least."

"Mr. Henderson!" She Exclaimed.

PAPA'S IDEA OF ECONOMY.

All Right When It Only Affected Pleasures of Others.

Not long ago we heard a man's little daughter say to him: "Papa, can't I have a nickel to buy some gum?" He was a good, kind man, and he didn't refuse her roughly. He patted her on the head and said: "Daughter, your old dad can't afford such things. It takes all our money to buy bread, and meat and keep you and [illegible] in shoes." She looked disappointed and [illegible] he started home. He felt as if a hot one would help his appetite and put him [illegible] mind in which to greet his family, so he walked in and put his right shoe upon the foot rail. "What'll you have, boys?" he asked. Some of them took it straight, and [illegible] took it diluted with [illegible] condition. Some took [illegible] Our [illegible] planked down a dollar. When the barkeep rang up the [illegible] cents. [illegible]

WATER FOR HOGS.

Barrel Device Which Will Make Task an Easy One.

[illegible] consists of a sled large enough to [illegible] On this is placed a strong, [illegible] floor with sides [illegible] Bore a large hole in the Watering Barrel for Hogs.

head of the barrel to be used when [illegible] and provide [illegible] hole in the side about three [illegible] at the top [illegible] The sled can be drawn to the feeding place and left [illegible] The water will run out in the box around the bottom of the barrel to the level of the small opening. The hogs have plenty of room to drink in the four corners, [illegible]

MATCH UP THE HORSES

Never Put the Slow Walker with the [illegible]

Matching farm teams properly is more difficult than matching driving [illegible] should [illegible] walking one, for you will have to constantly urge the slow one, and this soon irritates the other one. Match gaits, match temperaments, and match horse power. These are the three essentials to keep in mind when matching up the team for heavy farm work. Never put a young horse to very heavy, steady work, such as plowing, alongside an old, staid horse. The youngster is apt to do more than his share, in spite of all you can do to equalize the work.

When breaking a colt, writes a correspondent of Pacific Farmer, I have always found it best to put it alongside a steady, even-tempered horse that is not easily "rattled." Such a mate will soon give confidence to the colt, and he readily falls into work without much trouble. A correspondent says: "Give the colt some light farm work at first, such as plowing or harrowing." That's risky. I would never hitch a colt to a harrow. You never know what they are going to do, and a harrow is a mean thing to get a horse mixed up in. I would rather give the colts the light driving, and as they become seasoned give them some heavier work. Match up the colts as soon as possible, and when the teams are matched up, don't change them around, unless for some very good reason. Horses have to learn how to pull and work together.

FARM STOCK.

The good qualities of a horse do not all come from the sire.

The brood sow needs a feed differing from that given the hogs being fattened.

Hogs will eat more clover hay than most people suppose if they can have access to it at all times.

When the expense of raising a horse is incurred the more it brings in market the greater will be the profit.

Keep colts growing in a good, thrifty condition on feeds that are rich in bone and muscle-making material.

Blue grass pasture in summer and clover hay in winter should constitute a part of the ration of the brood sow.

The future horse depends a great deal upon the treatment the young things receive the first summer of their existence.

Injudicious training will develop and even [illegible] faults and taints to the horse which do not naturally belong to its disposition.

Never breed to a horse that will not work or is unmanageable for insubordination is as easily transmitted as any other fault.

The manner in which the calf is handled at birth, exerts a vital influence upon its after life. No matter for what the calf is intended, whether for veal or dairy, its early care plays an important part in its ultimate value.

For Barbed Wire Cuts.

The following is said to have been proved an excellent treatment for barbed wire cuts: Wash the cut thoroughly with castile soap, using tepid water. After washing it spray the wound with a weak solution of carbolic acid and then dust over it all the fresh air slaked lime that will adhere. This treatment should be given every day. No wrapping or covering is needed. The same treatment would doubtless be good in cases where horses get their pasterns burned or cut with a rope.

Horse's Drinking Capacity.

A horse can drink from 45 to 65 pounds of water per day. If the feed is dry, all of this amount will have to be supplied at the trough. If the feed contains a great deal of succulent green stuff, a large amount of the water will be taken into the system in that way and it will be needed at the trough. [illegible] rule to follow is to [illegible] it will [illegible] it is not [illegible] too much [illegible]

What is Castoria.

CASTORIA is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments, and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. F. Gerald Blattner, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "Your Castoria is good [illegible] I invariably prescribe it, always obtaining the desired results."

Dr. Gustave A. Eisengraeber, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "I have used your Castoria repeatedly in my practice with good results, and can recommend it as a safe and harmless remedy for children."

Dr. [illegible] of [illegible] says: "I have used your Castoria [illegible] find it pleasant to take, and have [illegible]

Dr. J. E. Simpson, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."

Dr. [illegible] of Omaha, Neb., says: "I find your Castoria to be a [illegible] ever known and I recommend it."

Dr. L. R. [illegible] of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria certainly [illegible] recommendation. What can a physician add? Leave it to the mothers."

Dr. Edwin F. Pardee, of New York City, says: "For several years I have recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."

Dr. N. B. Sizer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I object to what are called patent medicines, where maker alone knows what ingredients are put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use."

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Genuine Must Bear Fac-Simile Signature

Brent Good

REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.

FREE

To convince any woman that Paxtine Antiseptic will improve her health and do all we claim for it, we will send her absolutely free a large trial box of Paxtine with book of instruction and genuine testimonials. Send your name and address on a postal card.

PAXTINE

cleanses and heals mucous membrane of the feminine sex, such as nasal catarrh, pelvic catarrh and inflammation caused by feminine ills; sore eyes, sore throat and mouth, by direct local treatment. Its curative power over these troubles is extraordinary and gives immediate relief. Thousands of women are using and recommending it every day. 50 cents at druggists or by mail. Remember, however, IT COSTS YOU NOTHING TO TRY IT.

THE R. PAXTON CO., Boston, Mass.

SPOT CASH

FOR SOLDIERS' HOMESTEAD RIGHT.

All soldiers who served ninety days or more in the federal army or navy between 1861-1865 and who made homestead entries for less than 160 acres on or before June 22, 1874, acquire an additional right in due somewhere and this can be sold to me for spot cash, no matter whether patent issued or not. If soldier is dead, his heirs are entitled. The right descends as follows: First, to the widow; and second, to the legal heirs, or next of kin. Write to old soldiers, their widows, children, or next of kin, about this class of additional rights. Get busy right now and find some of your relatives who made homestead entries in early days. It's easy money. For further information address Comrade W. E. Moses, 80 California Building, Denver, Colo.

DEFIANCE STARCH easiest to work with and starches clothes nicest.

A. N. K.—C (1907—33) 2191.

OLDS GAS ENGINES

"BEST BY EVERY TEST."
U.S. GOVT REPORT.

Do you want an engine? We have one you can afford to buy. We have been building nothing but engines for 25 years. We guarantee the Olds Engines will run properly. The price is right. The engine is reliable and simple. We treat you right. There is an agent near by to see everything is right and kept so.

We have a liberal proposition to make to you, besides furnishing you the best engine made. Let us tell you about it, because it will surely interest you.

We can furnish you our Type A engine, set up on skids if desired, 3 to 8 h. p. ready to run when you get it—does not have to be set up—no pumps to connect, no foundations to build—simply fill with gasoline (or distillate), throw on the switch, turn the wheel and it goes.

Easy to start winter or summer. The cheapest of all engines for farm and stationary power. Has removable water jacket, all latest improvements, and has been adopted by the United States Government. Send for our catalog of 1 to 50 h. p. and be sure you take advantage of our proposition and save money.

OLDS GAS POWER CO.

Lansing, Mich.

Minneapolis—[illegible] Fremont St. Kansas City, Mo.—[illegible] W. Eleventh St. Chicago—[illegible]

W. L. DOUGLAS

$3.00 & $3.50 DIRECT [illegible]

[illegible] SHOES FOR EVERY [illegible] OF THE FAMILY, AT [illegible]

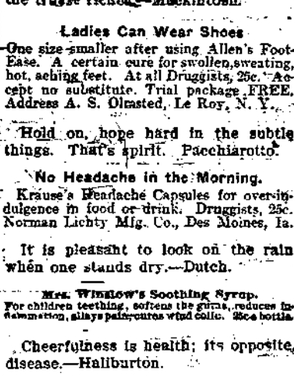
$25,000 Reward [illegible]

THE REASON W. L. DOUGLAS [illegible] in all walks of life than any other make in the world. [illegible] style, easy fitting and [illegible] wear. [illegible] shoes, [illegible] make you happy [illegible] and save you money.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY FOR ALL KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISEASES

75 "Grandma"



Painting for Profit

No one will question the superior appearance of well-painted property. The question that the properly-painted asks is, "Is the appearance worth the cost?"

Poor paint is for a temporary appearance only.

Paint made from Pure Linseed Oil and Pure White Lead is for lasting appearance and for protection. It saves repairs and replacements costing many times the paint investment.

The Dutch Boy trade-mark is found only on kegs containing Pure White Lead made by the Old Dutch Process.

SEND FOR BOOK

NATIONAL LEAD COMPANY

A SCHOOL

For Young Men and Women of limited means. Sixteen schools in one. Colleges of Liberal Arts, Normal, Preparatory, Engineering, Law, Commerce, Music, Fine Arts, Oratory, Pharmacy, U.S. Military Dept. Students from 31 states. 37 successful years. Centers thoughout. Expenses low. Catalog. OHIO NORTHERN UNIVERSITY, Ada, Ohio.

PATENTS and TRADE MARKS obtained, defended and prosecuted by ALEXANDER L. BOWELL, Patent Lawyer, Established 1867. 607 7th St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D.C. Book A of information sent FREE.

6-5-1

SELF SHINING SILVER POLISH

Has chemical properties that destroy rust, dissolving it as water does salt. Nothing else is anything like it.

Depends on the Dogs.

[illegible] Goddard, of the American Automobile association, was recounting in Chester some of his touring adventures.

"One summer morning," he said, "I approach of a great flock of sheep [illegible] me to pull off the narrow country road. I halted my car, and watched with interest the passage of the [illegible], the intelligent dogs and the herd.

[illegible] had a short talk with the shepherd about his odd and difficult trade. [illegible] look here,' I said, 'what do you do, [illegible] sheep like this on a narrow [illegible] when you meet another flock [illegible] in the opposite direction?'

'Well,' said the shepherd, 'ye just straight on, both of ye, and the [illegible] that has the best dogs gets the [illegible] sheep.'"

The Size of Him.

"[illegible]es," snarled the eminent Octo[illegible] who had just had returned to him [illegible] Shakespeare sarcastically called [illegible]." "This is my purse, and the [illegible] $1,143.93 are intact; but it [illegible] three days, seven hours and nine[illegible] minutes since I lost it. Where [illegible] interest, young man; where is [illegible] interest?"—Puck.

An Early Discovery.

"[illegible] our epigrams and adages show [illegible] wisdom," said the dependent.

"[illegible]es," answered Marcus Aurelius. "[illegible]n't deny that I regard them as [illegible] thing very wise indeed. There [illegible] thing like them for popularizing [illegible]."

[illegible] of the bowels and other [illegible] Peruna is an [illegible] remedy for all these [illegible]

GRIPPINE

CURES [illegible] It removes the cause, soothes the nerves and relieves the [illegible]

[illegible]ES AND GRIPPE [illegible] cures all [illegible] and neuralgia [illegible] 10c, 25c, and 50c bottles. (Liquid.)

COLORADO

[illegible] is the greatest mining State in the Union. But do you [illegible] Colorado farmers will produce dollars [illegible] her mines produce cents? [illegible] land that never fails to return big [illegible] on the investment; land that will [illegible] in value soon. Colorado is booming. [illegible] before prices go up, as they are [illegible] to do. Write for our descriptive literature. [illegible] and Eastern references if desired. [illegible] JOHNSTON. L. K. MULFORD, [illegible] Farm Dept. Colorado Ridge, Denver, Colo.

[illegible]gh-Priced Meat

may be a

Blessing

[illegible] it gives one the chance to [illegible]ow the tremendous value of [illegible] complete change of diet.

[illegible] this for breakfast:

A Little Fruit

[illegible]h of Grape-Nuts and C[illegible]

A Soft-Boiled Egg

Some Nice, Crisp Toast

[illegible] of [illegible]

Postum Food Coffee

[illegible]t's all, and you feel comfortable [illegible] until lunch.

[illegible] REPEAT.

[illegible] at night have a [illegible] that one [illegible]able [illegible] for [illegible] a diet [illegible] but [illegible] with [illegible]

A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

B. Frank Doreaus, veteran, of Roosevelt Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., says: "I had been showing symptoms of kidney trouble from the time I was [illegible] tered out of the army, but in all my life I never suffered as in [illegible] dropsy. I was weak and helpless, having run down from 180 to 125 pounds. I was having terrible pain in the kidneys and the secretions passed almost involuntarily. My left leg swelled until it was 34 inches around, and the doctor tapped it night and morning until I could no longer stand it, and then he advised amputation. I refused, and began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The swelling subsided gradually, the urine became natural and all my pains and aches disappeared. I have been well now for nine years since using Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

SETTING THE BRIDE AT EASE.

"Widder's" Sympathy Went Out to Fellow Passenger.

A couple recently married had just entered the train that was to bear them to the mountains on their honeymoon, when they became aware of the close scrutiny of them by a female passenger, who had evidently "spotted" a bride and groom. The young wife, on opening her handbag, let fall some rice on the floor, and the woman smiled. The other passengers regarded the couple with interest. Seeing that the bride was every moment becoming more flushed and uncomfortable by reason of their scrutiny, the woman in the goodness of her heart leaned across the carriage.

"Never mind, my dear," she said. [illegible] next week I'll be in the same fix myself!"

NO RELIEF FROM ECZEMA

For Over Two Years Patent Medicines, Quack Cures and Doctors Fail—Cuticura Succeeds.

"I was very badly afflicted with eczema for more than two years. The parts affected were my limbs below the knees. I tried all the physicians in the town and some in the surrounding towns, and I also tried all the patent remedies that I heard of, besides all the cures advised by old women and quacks, and found no relief whatever until I commenced using the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent. In the Cuticura Remedies I found immediate relief, and was soon sound and well. C. V. Beltz, Tippecanoe, Ind., Nov. 15, '05."

In Extremis.

The yacht was heavily becalmed. There were but ten bottles of champagne in the lockers. Their last signal of distress had been sent up, without bringing any response.

"Gentlemen," exclaimed the commodore, in a quavering voice, "I can no longer conceal the hideous truth from you. Scurvy stares us in the face!"

It was a wildly various scene which ensued. Some blasphemed, some prayed, some, in an access of frenzied wantonness, sang songs, while some sat stolidly by, awaiting their fate with at least an outward calm.—Puck.

NEW HOMES IN THE WEST.

Send for free copy of pamphlet containing synopsis of the United States homestead laws and information how to secure a quarter section of splendid farming or grazing land free along the line railway lines of the Chicago, North-Western Ry. in South Dakota, Wyoming and other states. Special excursion rates to homeseekers. Full information on request to W. B. Kniskern, Passenger Traffic Manager, C. & N. W. Ry., Chicago.

Social Rank.

At a country dance in a southern town, when the fiddlers had resined their bows and taken their places on the platform, the floor manager rose.

"Got yo' partners for a cotillion!" he shouted, imperiously.

"All you ladies an' gemmen dat wears shoes an' stockings take yo' places in de middle ob de room. All you ladies an' gemmen dat wears shoes an' no stockings take you' places immejitly behin' dem. An' you barefooted crowd jest jig it roun' in de corners."—Youth's Companion.

What Did She Mean?

Mrs. Armitage had a negro servant who continually prated of a certain Mrs. Reed for whom she formerly worked. Weary of hearing Mrs. Reed quoted so often, the mistress asked one day:

"Well, Samantha, what kind of work did you do at Mrs. Reed's, anyway?"

"Well, honey, I cooked fob huh, I did, an' I cleaned fob huh, an' swep' fob huh, an' I washed huh pussone appearance."—Lippincott's.

What Caused the Lynching.

Out at Stafford the other day a group of farmers met a train, and when a tall, sunburned man stepped off the car they all grabbed him and shook his hand warmly. The man looked them over calmly and then said: "Gentlemen, I am sorry to disappoint you. I know you think I am a harvest hand, but you are mistaken. I am a lightning rod agent."—Kansas City Star.

COFFEE AIDS

MISS TIMMONS' ANSWER

By ANNA DEMING

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

"There, that is perfect," said little Miss Timmons, as she took the pins from her mouth and straightened up. She was putting the last touches to the drapery of a party dress for the eldest Miss Thompson.

As she turned, her eyes caught in the mirror the reflection of her own plain, brown figure in striking contrast to that of the stately girl in white beside her, and for just one minute there came into her heart a sense of loss and discontent, but it was gone in a moment, for Miss Timmons was [illegible] practical little [illegible] and besides this, she was quite plain looking, and was almost 33, and she had never had any use for a party dress in all her busy life.

Miss Thompson looked with delight at her own graceful reflection, for she had all a young girl's pardonable pleasure in looking her best.

"It just suits you to perfection," said her sister Alice, who was leaning against the door, watching with admiration the dressmaker's deft touches and waiting her turn to be fitted. "I only hope mine will be as pretty, and I know there won't be two sweeter dresses there."

Miss Timmons looked gratified, for she was an artist in her way, and had an artist's pleasure in success.

These dresses were, besides, to be worn to the great event of the season, a ball to be given by the Masons, and, as is always the case in a small town, nothing else had been thought of or talked of for weeks among the young people; and little Miss Timmons had had her skill and ingenuity taxed to the utmost to provide pleasing and suitable costumes for all those who had required her aid.

"I Hoped You Would Write."

strange gentleman we met driving the other day? Brother Jack says they have sent him an invitation. He is a Mr. Newman, from Kansas City, has a large stockyard there, and is here buying fine horses; he isn't young, but he is so good looking, and Jack says a perfect gentleman."

It was the night of the ball, and Miss Timmons sat in her room reading, when a servant came to say that a gentleman in the parlor was waiting to speak with her.

She went down to find Jack Thompson in his evening suit, looking his happiest and best. He came forward to meet her, saying eagerly: "Now, Miss Timmons, I want you to go over to the hall; it's all trimmed up and looks so pretty; so do the girls. I took Jennie Gillen, you know, and going over, she said you had made her dress—she looks lovely—and I know you made Alice's and Mabel's, and I thought you might like to see them altogether. You can go up in the gallery and I will bring you home whenever you want; won't you come?"

"My dear boy, how kind you are; I will indeed be glad to go, only you must give me five minutes to put on my best frock."

She came back to the parlor in a short time in a brown silk, with a neat little brown bonnet tied under her chin and a pink flush on her cheeks that made Jack wonder why he had never before noticed that she was really pretty.

It is more than likely that not one of the young girls there enjoyed that evening more than did Miss Timmons. [illegible] childhood playtime, for all of her younger years had been full of care for an invalid father, and now that she was alone, it had gotten to be an accepted fact that she went nowhere but to church; and yet, if there was extra sewing to be done, if there was sickness or death in a family, Miss Timmons was the first to be sent for.

She got through, gazing down [illegible] the gay throng below, with happy, smiling eyes.

Jack left her presently, but she did not feel in the least alone. He soon returned with another gentleman.

After the introduction he sat down by her side, and she soon found herself talking as to an old friend, and [illegible] before the ball was over, had told him of Jack's thoughtfulness and of how great a treat he had given her.

When John Newman returned to Kansas City, it was with a sense of real sadness at parting with friends of only a month.

After he had been home for weeks and months, he could not keep his thoughts from straying back to that month by them and to the little woman in brown.

It became such a bother to him at last that after he had been a year away, on the fourteenth of February, he wrote Miss Timmons a letter, telling her all about it. [illegible] for after all, it has [illegible] to do with the story. He [illegible] if [illegible] for [illegible] by [illegible]

Miss Timmons, in her quiet Kentucky home, lived as she had lived before John Newman came into her life. Her days were full of usefulness, and she had but little time to indulge in idle dreams of what life might have been.

Sometimes she would think of John Newman with a half sigh, which she was scarcely conscious of herself.

The letter, she had never gotten, [illegible] to break the monotony for two years, and then a great event occurred, the greatest the town had ever known.

Miss Thompson was married; that, in itself, was not wonderful, for she was a very pretty and very attractive girl; but she married a man much older than herself, and there were marvelous stories of his wealth.

The wedding was the grandest affair that the county had ever known, and the happy husband invited the wedding party to accompany them on their journey to Santa Fe and back.

Mrs. Thompson was not very well pleased with this arrangement, as both Alice and Jack were in the party; in fact, she only consented on the one condition that Miss Timmons could be induced to join them.

Miss Timmons was invited, persuaded against her judgment to accept, and almost before she knew it, found herself one of a gay and happy party, being whirled over [illegible] and beautiful to her, that each day seemed too short to enjoy all the pleasure that it brought.

The dining room of the Las Vegas hotel was nearly full but one table almost in the center of the room, still waited, with tipped chairs and an expectant expression, from the stiff napkins and snowy cloth, to the big bowl of roses in the middle.

[illegible] seated, but there could be no mistake, he knew them at once. His heart beat so rapidly that he knew almost the cross man next must hear it.

Miss Timmons sat with her back to him, but he knew that slender, graceful form, in its quiet dress of brown cloth.

Miss Thompson sat on the other side, then two young people he did not know, then Jack and Alice. What a gay time they were having. He could see her face now and then, as she spoke to the groom. Surely he had forgotten what a sweet and noble face it was.

Then Jack saw him, and he knew that his plan to slip out unobserved by them must be given up; he must go through an introduction. Well, it was best to have it over after all.

Then the party rose and John rose also and joined them as in a dream, and still in a dream he felt Jack grasp his hand and heard him say:

"So glad to see you, mighty fortunate—want you to meet my new brother-in-law."

Then he was being introduced and had shaken hands all around, and walked out on the broad veranda with them, and it was only then, when the sweet morning air touched his face, that he came out of the daze and knew that Miss Thompson was the bride! He had not even thought of that!

He found himself presently at the farther end of the wide veranda with Miss Timmons, where he had taken her to show her a better view of the mountains, against which the hotel rests but now that they were in full command of that, "good view," he seemed to have forgotten it.

"I hoped you would write," he said, looking at her with sad eyes.

Her heart fluttered strangely; she looked up wonderingly.

"I said for you not to answer the letter unless you could answer as I wished—but I hoped you could, Miss Timmons."

Her gaze was full of wonder now. "I don't understand," she said. "I never had a letter from you in my life, Mr. Newman."

Then he told her eagerly of the letter he had written her, and finished by saying: "If you had gotten it, would you have answered?"

He dared not take her hand, for there were a dozen people walking the veranda before them.

She looked away from him at the purple peaks, lit by Mr. Timmons' sunlight, and at the gay throng of happy people about them, then back to John's grave, waiting face, before she answered: "I think perhaps I might."

THE BANDAGE SLIPPED OFF.

Thereby Exposing a Ruse to Save the Family Pride.

A Kansas City professional man, who is prominently identified with Missouri politics, tells the following story on himself: "My folks moved from Indiana to Johnson county, Missouri, when I was six years of age. We settled on a farm near Holden. The first Sunday we were there, and while the family were preparing for Sunday school, it was discovered that I did not have any shoes. My mother, realizing that folks would talk if one of her children made his first public appearance barefooted, suggested that I have a cloth tied around one foot to create the impression that I was unable to wear shoes because of a sore foot. So the rag was tied on me. Everything went along smoothly and I learned all about what's-his-name's bears eating the bad children up, when I heard a snicker from a [illegible] behind me. I afterwards learned it was possible to my right foot. I glanced down [illegible] The rag had slipped off [illegible] exposed."

He then [illegible]

FLIRT OF THE FIAL.

by Dreadful [illegible]

A wayfarer, traveling along the public highway in pursuit of [illegible] purposes, was run against and knocked over by a wild-eyed youth of frightened mien, who, upon untangling himself from the peregrinator, elucidated his harrowing predicament as follows:

"I went over to bask in the smiles of my fiancee and discovered that it was sewing circle date upon and the sitting-room was invaded [illegible] me down on the vine-clad porch to await their departure; and to my that indifferent but very presently horrified ears were wafted snatches of their conversation, running something like this: 'The food is liable to disagree with its little stomach, and you must experiment with a variety of milks from different cows, invariably sterilizing it, and try various foods, until you discover exactly the right one. My second had the colic almost every night for six weeks and screamed for hours without intermission. It never slept longer than half an hour at a time and neither my husband or me had a minute's rest, day or night. And then teething set in. Whooping cough followed, and measles, scarlet fever, hives, and—' Then I fled. I don't know where I shall stop and—"

"You are quite excusable, sir!" returned the wayfarer, who had lived long and knew much. "Pray, don't mention it!"—Puck.

A PECULIAR ALLIANCE.

That Made by the Doctors and the W. C. T. U.

For the purpose of fighting "patent" medicines the doctors, as represented by the American Medical Association, have made an alliance with the W. C. T. U. who have been deceived into believing that the alcohol in "patent" medicines is a menace. In this alliance the good ladies of the W. C. T. U. are apparently put in the position of drawing chestnuts out of the fire for their allies. There is no claim [illegible] for alcohol in medication as the doctors who, with a few exceptions, not only prescribe it freely but use it, as indeed they must whether they would prefer to or not, as a solvent and preservative [illegible] medical and pharmaceutical world is in error; that alcohol is not only useless but that it is dangerous and harmful in any quantity in any medicinal preparation. While their principles are so wholly at variance the doctors and the W. C. T. U. ladies have cheerfully allied themselves in a war on "patent" medicines, and the W. C. T. U. is placed in an even more ridiculous position by reason of the fact that the doctors do not confine their fight to those medicines which contain alcohol, but lump all "patent" medicines in one class. And this, too, despite the fact that, according to figures printed in the Journal of the American Medical Association, about 70 per cent of physicians' prescriptions are for "patent" or "proprietary" medicines.

The inability of many physicians to prescribe any but ready-to-use remedies is frequently commented upon by the medical press, and by physicians of the better class when assembled in conventions. That three-fourths of the physicians graduated each year in the United States are incompetent and a peril to the communities in which they practice was charged openly at the annual meeting of the Committee on Medical Education of the American Medical Association, held in Chicago in April of this year. The total number of graduates annually was placed at 4,000 which means that at least 3,000 incompetents are turned loose annually. It was stated at this meeting that an average of 58 per cent of the graduates from medical colleges failed to pass state examinations. These failures either go back to school, or go to some state where the requirements are not so high.

That many doctors are so ignorant in matters pertaining to pharmacy that they know nothing about the properties of the drugs they prescribe, was stated by Dr. M. Clayton Thrush, a professor in the Medico-Chirurgical College at Philadelphia in an address before the Annual Convention of the American Medical Association at Atlantic City in June of this year.

Dr. Henry Beats, Jr., President of the Board of Medical Examination for the State of Pennsylvania, in an interview in the daily papers said: "About one quarter of the papers show a degree of illiteracy that renders the candidates for licensure in the opinion of an Ostrandering medicine." He criticizes the colleges for awarding degrees in these cases.

Wisdom on Tap.

Mrs. Green, who was deeply absorbed in a romance of the 11th century, suddenly paused and looked at her husband.

"Gregory," she said, "listen to this: 'By my halidom,' exclaimed Sir Hardynge, 'it is past the hour of—12!' What is a halidom?"

"What do you suppose it is?" responded Mr. Green, with a frown. "Can't you tell from the context, Maria? Sir What-a-his-name said it was past the hour of 12 by his halidom, didn't he? I should think any one could tell from that sentence that he had just consulted his chronometer. Halidom is the old English name for watch, of course! Why is it that some women don't seem to be able to exercise their reasoning faculties?"—Stray Stories.

Somewhat Disconcerting.

He gazed upon her in fond admiration. He loved her to distraction. Lovers had loved before, lovers might love again, but no lover might, could, would or should love as he loved Dora. The sun shone Dora, the birds sang Dora, the wild flowers in the [illegible] they were Dora. [illegible] And the Perdicaris exclaimed with [illegible]

"What in the world [illegible] Dora, to care for a [illegible]

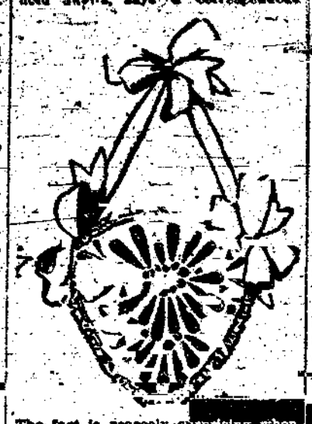
PURELY FEMININE

CHEAP AND DAINTY

PINCUSHION WORKED IN BRODERIE ANGLAISE.

Material Just at This Moment Has Great Popularity—Can Be Utilized in Many Ways For Trifles.

Though the craze for broderie Anglaise has somewhat abated in the realm of dress, it is more than ever rampant in the decoration of house hold articles, says a correspondent.



The fact is scarcely surprising when one considers what delightful little articles can be made from this beautiful embroidery, [illegible] as they went into it. The work is pleasant and easy, and the materials are so inexpensive that even the tiniest allowance will permit of the purchase of all the necessaries without ever feeling the cost. All sorts of charming little affairs can be thus adorned. I saw a little time ago in the chintz-hung bedroom of a friend's week-end cottage a reallly lovely and most original pincushion made of a piece of needlework. The pincushion was almost heart-shaped, and was fashioned of heavy "antique" linen completely covered with a conventional design of broderie anglaise worked in glossy mercerized embroidery cotton. Beneath came a lining of pale rose pink, which showed through the open pattern in most enticing fashion. A wee double frill of linen edged the cushion all round, and made a pretty finish. To the two top corners were stitched the ends of a loop of pale pink ribbon, the sewing being concealed beneath two small bows of the ribbon, a similar bow ornamenting the top of the loop. This loop, by the way, was intended to suspend the cushion from the side of the mirror, and thus save valuable space on the small dressing table.

Spiders Injure Carnation.

If those who complain of trouble with carnations will take the pains to examine the foliage, particularly the under side of it, they will discover hundreds of tiny creatures of a dark red color moving actively about among little webs almost undistinguishable by the ordinary observation. These are red spiders. Unless kept in check or got rid of they will ruin the plants. The way to prevent them from taking possession of the plants is to give daily showerings all over the foliage. If this is persisted in the spider will stay away. But if it has come already the best thing to do is to heat a tub of water to 120 degrees and immerse the plant in it. Allow it to remain in the bath about half a minute. Then remove it and after a little give it another dip. This generally kills the spider, but a third bath may be necessary. After getting the plant free from the pest keep it away by the liberal use of water.

Gooseberry Green.

In spite of the flattering attention paid to khaki and everything suggestive of brown, one cannot pass by an noticed the exquisite shades of green, the newest of which is gooseberry—a dainty, whitish green, as cool and refreshing as the proverbial cucumber. A number of delightful evening frocks are made of gooseberry net, the skirts trimmed with trails of leaves, roses and buds worked in various shades of green and touched with silver.

PETTICOAT MUST FIT WELL.

Otherwise, Effect of Skirt Will Inevitably Be Spoiled.

The up-to-date skirt calls for a petticoat most carefully cut and fitted. If this foundation petticoat is made carelessly it will spoil the effect of the soft and clinging skirt draped over it. There are few fashionable materials of the season that are not soft and clinging, and however full of folds the skirt may be it must cling around the hips and fall in supple folds not too widely flaring. One of the [illegible] silks makes a satisfactory foundation petticoat. Many prefer a supple satin which yet has body enough to wear well.

Chiffon taffeta of the [illegible] that costs [illegible] is the [illegible] with the [illegible] of [illegible] be [illegible] for the [illegible]

THE RAGE FOR KHAKI.

This Shade Has Taken Hold of Feminine Fancy.

Khaki has taken an entirely new hold upon the woman of fashion a hold that is as strong as was that of the golden browns at the beginning of the season. In fact, there is a sort of fancy for khaki despite the fact that it is not always pretty. Sometimes raw, sometimes brazen and quite indistinct of tone, it takes extraordinary to be made into the creations that one raves over in the French salons. The shade, however, is peculiarly becoming to reddish blondes, of whom there are so many among the smart set of Paris and London. One of the smartest specimens of khaki silk is shown by Worth, the skirt being plain save for an inch-wide band of its own material piped with delicate green silk and running around the skirt above the hem. With it is worn a pretty short coat with full sleeves, held with cuffs to match, these turning back quite deep over the sleeves.

Kimono coats of khaki silk stitched with fancy embroideries are very smart indeed for summer wear, and some of the long models are taken as an excuse for the employment of quantities after quantities of handsome lace in white and neutral tints. Shorter models have long since assumed styles of their own, many of [illegible] Lefevre's designs the coat is [illegible] over the [illegible] in beige [illegible] from a semi-fitted back [illegible] outlined with silk [illegible]

White Cardboard That Will Hold Five Pictures.

We give a design of a photograph frame for holding five portraits, which can be made out of white cardboard. The space for the photographs should be marked out in pencil on the board, and then cut out with a sharp penknife. The edges should be bound round with colored paper fastened on with gum; this should be very carefully and evenly done if we wish to make the frame look neat. Some pretty little floral designs may be painted on the spaces between the portraits.

The photographs are held in their places by means of thin strips of paper pasted across the back.

The support at the back is merely a piece of cardboard hinged on by a piece of cloth glued at the top and lower edge. The frame can also be made to hang up on the wall, and when this is desired a small ring on a piece of tape is easily attached at the back.

Pretty Surplice Suit.

One may feast the eye on many a pretty conceit, yet nothing any prettier than a simple little surplice suit of pink and mauve ninon in tiny checks as small as the smallest shepherd's plaid. This jaunty little frock was made with a plaited skirt and a surplice waist, the sleeves being formed Jap style with the plaited waist portions. Bordering the sleeves were folds of plain mauve ninon edged with an insertion of Irish point. The front of the surplice was outlined with a plain band of the mauve, while the vest to the waist was of Irish point allover. The plaited belt was finished at the front with an immense buckle of frosted silver.

To Get Touch of Color.

Pale blue seems to be first choice when a bit of color is [illegible] but khaki is also popular. Khaki linen, braided or embroidered in white, makes an excellent trimming for a white linen, and there are some pretty striped stuffs showing white stripes on a khaki ground.

[illegible] lute smoothness [illegible] the hips and abdomen, flaring [illegible] dually below, but not reaching an extravagant width. Less fluffy ruffling and trimming are set upon the bottom of the petticoat than were used a season or two ago.

In Serviceable Tweeds.

Mixed tweeds with fine satin lines make unusually pretty tailor frocks for the summer, being serviceable for travelling, yachting and all the outdoor sports, as well as for [illegible] occasions. Any woman would delight in the possession of Worth's newest model in black and white striped [illegible] the coat and little black buttons trimming the skirt. The jacket falls below the hips and follows the lines of the figure closely. It is cut on the bias, so that each stripe seems to form a curve of its own. The collar and revers are of black satin, with a [illegible] of white cloth in the center, fastened with [illegible] of [illegible] piped with black [illegible] the [illegible] skirts, continuing [illegible] of the front in the form of [illegible] is quite a [illegible] style.

Saved Her Life but Spoiled Her Appetite.

It happened in Harlem. The New York Press. An old woman carrying a basket of groceries started across the street just as a trolley car came along at a clip that would have made a stop within ten cars lengths apparently an impossibility. The old woman possibly was deaf, for she walked to the center of the track, and the motorman evidently hadn't thought she would do it, for he made no [illegible] until the [illegible] of her position suddenly burst upon her but she couldn't move, and the car was so close by this time that her death appeared inevitable.

Whether he had a more powerful brake than ordinary or such superhuman strength that he was able to accomplish what didn't seem possible, but at any rate the motorman brought his car to a sudden stop within a foot of the old woman. So sudden was it that passengers [illegible] their seats and the brake handle was so far out, and the motorman, with both hands on it, had leaned so far forward that he was tumbled over the dashboard and fell on the woman he had saved.

The old woman was knocked to her hands and knees, but not injured by the motorman's fall, and the motorman, too, escaped even a bruise, but crushed the basket of groceries beneath his weight. The old woman saw this first, her precious eggs, fruit and vegetables lying in the [illegible] and scrambling to her feet, she made violently for the man who had saved her life but destroyed the family fodder. Rattled and dazed he ducked her clawing talons, and ran twice around the car with her in wild pursuit before a man on the street stopped laughing long enough to seize the belligerent old lady and enable the motorman to jump on the platform, turn on the power and escape the fury.

"I guess she wouldn't have been so thrilling had if I'd killed her," [illegible] speaking of the reward she had given him for saving her life.

Pneumatic Tube Story.

An aged [illegible] man and [illegible] into the editorial rooms [illegible] and asked the [illegible] he sat for several minutes gazing at the pneumatic tube stations sent up like horns of an orchestrion at the desks of the city and telegraph editors. There was a buzzing sound as a copy boy pulled a lever, and the old man smiled, as if expecting something pleasant, then took on a look of disappointment. A few minutes later the boy sent another piece of copy whirling upstairs, and again the visitor's expression passed from anticipation to disappointment, then bewilderment. Finally he accosted the telegraph editor.

"'Scuse me, suh, but mout I ax yo' what dem things is?"

Certainly he might and was enlightened.

"Well, I 'clah t' goodness!" he exclaimed; "I thought dey was some sort o' music box t' entertain yo' gentmens whilst yo' worked!"

The Voice Admired.

The voice that is heard without raising the natural speaking tones is the well-modulated voice which impresses one with its calm and its sincerity.

Train the ear to recognize pleasant-sounding, agreeable voices and listen to your own critically.

A shrill, parrot-like voice makes the most beautiful woman a trying companion.

Just as the touch of a woman's hand should be a warm caress, so should her voice fall upon the ear with pleasantness.

A course of instruction in vocal culture will create a decided change many times, but a vast improvement may be found in deep breathing and careful attention.

Fast talking and loud talking ruin the voice.

It is the well-poised woman who receives the admiration and respect.

DROPS

TRADE MARK

A PROMPT PREVENTIVE REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM

GIVES [illegible]

Applied [illegible] stant relief [illegible] results are [illegible] the pain [illegible] from the [illegible]

D. S. D. BLAND

Of [illegible] writes:

C. L. GATES

FREE